MAN FOUND IN RIVER DROWNED, AUTOPSY INDICATES

No Unmistakable Evidence of Violence Found—Temple Indented, but No Brain Hemorrhage Shown.

IDENTIFICATION CLEWS FAIL TO COINCIDE

Name, "Earl C. Rienier, Kansas City," Found in Purse—Had Registered at Maryland Hotel Thursday.

An autopsy was performed today on the man's body which was taken from the Mississippi River at Barton street yesterday noon, and which was at first believed by the police to show evidence of robbery and murder. Dr. T. L. Carriere, who performed the autopsy, said he believed that the man was drowned, and that he found no unmistakable mark of violence.

There was an indentation of the right temple, but no fracture of the skull or brain hemorrhage was shown by the autopsy. The lungs contained water, pointing to drowning as the cause of death. The name and address, "Earl C. Rienier, Kansas City," were written on a sheet of paper which the police found in the man's pocket. A baggage check of the Maryland Hotel, which was in one of the pockets, led to the discovery that a man registered last Thursday night at the Maryland, writing his name and address as "Earl de Rienier, Kansas City."

Mrs. James F. Burton of 5973 Enright avenue, who formerly lived in Kansas City, and who worked in the same office with an Earl Rienier there, viewed the body, but was unable to identify it. The man was wearing a dark suit, a white shirt, and a dark tie. He was wearing a watch on his left wrist, and a ring on his left ring finger. The watch was a gold watch, and the ring was a diamond ring. The man was wearing a pair of dark shoes, and a pair of dark socks. The man was wearing a pair of dark gloves, and a pair of dark mittens. The man was wearing a pair of dark socks, and a pair of dark shoes. The man was wearing a pair of dark socks, and a pair of dark shoes.

The Maryland Hotel guest who registered as Earl de Rienier took a room at 11:30 p. m. last Thursday and checked out the next day. The hotel attendant remembered nothing about his movements. No record of such a person has thus far been found in Kansas City. A shirt and necktie found in the bag had the marks of a store in El Paso, Tex., and a shoe horn found in the bag was from another El Paso store.

The man, whose body is in the morgue, was 5 feet 8 inches in height, about 35 years old, and appeared to have weighed about 160 pounds. He had a light complexion and dark brown hair. His suit was of blue worsted, and he wore a silk shirt with a blue striped, brown silk necktie and low tan shoes. The body appeared to have been in the water not more than three or four days.

HOME ENTERED FOUR TIMES IN 9 MONTHS WITH DUPLICATE KEY

Stoddard Street Resident Tells of Theft Since Jan. 12—Latest One in Her Absence.

Mrs. Fannie Barnharts of 2825 Stoddard street told the police yesterday that she wished they would send a series of robberies of her home.

She said that during her absence yesterday some one had entered her home, apparently with a duplicate key, and had stolen a watch. On Jan. 12, she said, clothing valued at $100 had been taken, on March 9, a diamond ring valued at $150, and on June 6 a necklace valued at $70. On each occasion, she said, a duplicate key had been used.

KING ALEXANDER'S CONDITION FROM MONKEY BITE CRITICAL

Greek Monarch's Temperature at 104.72 Last Night—Noted French Physician in Athens Attending Him.

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, Oct. 14.—The condition of King Alexander was reported early today as still critical, as the result of the infection which followed the bite of a monkey Oct. 2.

Last night Dr. Vidal, the noted French physician, arrived in Athens and examined the King. Afterward he expressed the opinion that his case was of the most critical sort, but not hopeless.

The highest temperature shown by the King last night was 40.4 degrees Centigrade (104.72 degrees Fahrenheit), at which time his pulse was 120. At 8 o'clock this morning the fever had dropped to 37.7 Centigrade (99.86 Fahrenheit) and the pulse was 108.

Condition of Alexander Brings Discussion of Possible Successor.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—The danger of King Alexander of Greece dying as the result of his severe illness caused by the bite of a monkey, is deeply interesting official circles here, and the question of whether the monarchy would be continued in that event or a republic established is widely discussed.

TARWATER GETS 35 YEARS FOR KILLING EDITOR ROBERTSON

Jury Finds Former City Clerk of Gallatin, Mo., Guilty of Second Degree Murder.

PLEA OF INSANITY AND SELF-DEFENSE

Motion for New Trial Made and if This Is Refused Appeal Will Be Taken, His Attorneys Say.

By the Associated Press.

GALLATIN, Mo., Oct. 14.—Hugh Y. Tarwater was today found guilty by a jury of second degree murder for the death of Wesley L. Robertson, a veteran newspaper publisher here, Dec. 23, 1919. Tarwater was sentenced to 35 years in the penitentiary.

The jury deliberated about 26 hours. The trial lasted 10 days. Defense counsel made a motion for a new trial and announced that if this was refused an appeal would immediately be taken. Tarwater's defense was insanity and also self-defense.

Was Gallatin City Clerk.

Tarwater, 52 years old, was city clerk of Gallatin and president of a local telephone company, when he walked into the back office of the Gallatin Democrat two days before Christmas last year, and shot Robertson, who was senior partner and editor of the Democrat. Tarwater's friends said the tragedy was the result of a political feud in the Third Congressional District of Missouri, the home of Joshua W. Alexander, Secretary of Commerce.

The friends of the slain man scoffed at the suggestion that politics had anything to do with the killing. Tarwater, they asserted, bore the dead man animosity as the result of a feud between the Democrat and the Democrat.

EADS BRIDGE TOLL

INCREASE PROPOSED

Traffic Bureau Tomorrow Will Consider Roadway Rates Sought by Terminal.

The Traffic Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce has called a meeting for tomorrow at 10 a. m. to consider the new schedule of upper roadway tolls for Eads Bridge proposed by the Terminal Railroad Association.

The increases are from 20 to 40 per cent, according to the Terminal, and are proposed to conform to the recent advance of 20 per cent in freight rates.

The proposed schedule makes no increase in the toll for single tickets or passenger vehicles. The increase on horse vehicles, according to the Traffic Bureau, is about 15 per cent. The charges for automobile trucks is adjusted to the horse vehicle basis.

Monthly commutation tickets are advanced on the schedule as follows:
Foot passengers, 42 trips, from $1 to $1.50; bicycle or motor cycle and rider, 42 trips, from $2 to $3; automobile, seating two or three persons, 50 trips, from $3 to $4; automobile seating from four to eight persons, 50 rides, from $4 to $5; horse and buggy, 50 trips, from $2
to $3.

It is proposed to advance the annual tickets for individuals, horse and buggy or automobile from $25
to $30.

ORANGE JUDD FARM PAPERS' EDITOR OUT FOR COX ON LEAGUE

Herbert Myrick, Republican, Says Country Suffers Because of Failure to Ratify Treaty.

"DUTY NOW IS TO ELECT COX," HE SAYS

Miss Mabel Choate and Prof.
George B. Adams of Yale
Among Others to Desert
Harding.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Herbert Myrick, an original Hoover Republican and editor of Farm and Home and the Orange-Judd Farm publications, has joined the long list of lifelong Republicans who have deserted Harding and Coolidge on the League of Nations issue and will vote for Cox, Roosevelt and the league. Others announced yesterday are Miss Mabel Choate, daughter of the late Ambassador to Great Britain; Mrs. Henry Phipps, Charles P. Howland, lawyer and president of the Public Education League, and Prof. Geo. B. Adams of Yale.

In his letter to the Democratic National Committee, in which he describes himself as a lifelong Republican, Myrick declares that everyone is suffering because of the failure to ratify the peace treaty and end chaotic conditions in Europe.

"Values are on the toboggan," he declared. "Food prices fall with a dull thud. Quotations slashed on other commodities. High-cost stuff sells slowly at low prices. Foreign markets for our surplus contract, foreign supplies expand. Europe sells more to us, she buys less from us. Our exports decrease, imports increase. Our imports of food exceed in value our vast export of food. Mental Unrest Prevails.

"Peace deflation proceeds downward with reckless rapidity like the equally reckless upward flight of war inflation. Mental unrest prevails; spiritual values are lost sight of. And most of it all is as unnecessary as the world's need is universal for the utmost of human production and for the closest interdependence.

"To lead the way out of present chaos, nearly all the nations of the world are leagued. Even Mexico, Germany and Russia will join. Only the United States stays out. And now in his Des Moines speech Harding says the United States will never go in if he is elected. He repudiates all Republicans who favor the league. Harding casts aside every spiritual, social and economic consideration that indissolubly bind America to the rest of the world.

"Just as confidence was being restored at home and abroad when most gravely needed, Harding breaks down its delicate structure like a bull in a china shop. The history of such utter betrayal of a nation's welfare. The duty now is to elect Cox, and a Congress in sympathy with Cox, as the first step toward a return here in the United States to material prosperity, mental and spiritual strength."

Howland, a member of the law firm of Murray, Prentice & Howland, of which F. Parmelee Prentice, son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, is a partner, and a director in many corporations, will take the stump for Cox and Roosevelt. His first speech will be in Flushing next Monday.

Platform of Ambiguities.

"The party which I supported for many years," wrote Mr. Howland, in announcing his position, "has offered to an intelligent electorate a platform of ambiguities, meant either as an anodyne to the country at large or else to placate, to deceive one or the other of the two wings into which the party itself has divided on the great issue. The candidate has no mind of his own on a subject which has been before the world for six years, but gravitates toward the more threatening of his official supporters. If the Republicans win, internal conflict is likely to disrupt the party, and the last stage of the conflict will be worse than the first. There is no reason why Republicans, even of a lifetime, should prefer party regularity to the national interest and the national honor."

Mrs. Phipps in a statement issued from her home, No. 1063 Fifth avenue, addressed to "My countrymen," says:

"The League of Nations is approved of by many of our wisest and best citizens, as well as by the majority of the nations of the world. Mr. Taft says of it:

"When Mr. Wilson brought to this country the League covenant, as reported to the Paris conference, I urged on the same platform with him that we join the league. I therefore recommended amendments, many of which were adopted into its final form. Had I been in the Senate, I would have voted for the league and treaty also. My husband and I advocated its ratification accordingly."

No Violation of Constitution.
"I did not think, and I do not think, that anything in the league covenant as sent to the Senate would violate the Constitution of the United States or would involve us in wars which it would not be to the highest interest of the world and the country to suppress by universal boycott and, if need be, by military force.

"We women of America know that had it not been for the President, the great advocate of the league, we would not now have the privilege of the franchise. Let us join the Pro-League Independents who will vote for Cox and Roosevelt, notwithstanding many of them are good Republicans." Herbert Parsons, who announced his intention of supporting Gov. Cox several days ago, was yesterday in receipt of letters from Norman Hapgood and Prof. Munroe Smith of the Columbia Law School praising his stand. Smith has been a Republican all his life, his only Democratic vote being for Cleveland in 1884, when he bolted Blaine.

"When I read the two speeches of acceptance," he wrote Parsons, "I, as a supporter of the league, decided that I would not vote for Harding but for Cox and my convictions have steadily grown stronger as I read Harding's latest utterances."

COAL REDUCED
20% to 30%

Owners of homes having hot-water heating plants can save almost one-third of their coal bills this Winter by installing a D. & T. equipment.

The complete D. & T. equipment consists of a damper regulator, a basement expansion tank and a pressure controller.

The regulator, by automatically opening and closing the draft door, prevents overheating and maintains an even temperature in the building. By admitting just the proper amount of air for perfect combustion it causes the coal to burn to a fine ash and prevents clinkers.

The basement expansion tank contains a certain amount of air which is compressed by heating the water and furnishes, without cost, the motive power to operate the regulator. No batteries or electrical connections to get out of order.

By using D. & T. Equipment you remove the unsightly expansion tank from the finished portion of the building and eliminate the dangers of freezing and stopped-up overflow pipes, which may cause considerable damage.

The pressure controller creates a slight pressure in the system and causes the water to circulate more rapidly and at a lower temperature than is possible in an open system.

Radiators that are slow to heat, or portions of the plant that circulate sluggishly, are immediately remedied by D. & T. Equipment.

Any heating contractor will install D. & T. Equipment at reasonable cost. Our experts will co-operate with your heating man and guarantee to cure your unsatisfactory hot-water system. 30,000 satisfied users in United States and Canada.

Phone or write for our prices. Victor 82—Grand 4890. D. & T. Mfg. Co., 3001 LaSalle St., St. Louis.

BLANTON Creamo NUT BUTTER

THE NEW BLUE PACKAGE

A New Creammaid Product In the new Blue Package—Buy It!

READY and waiting for you today at more than a thousand St. Louis dealers—Blanton Creamo Nut Butter, the new Creammaid Product in the Blue Package; churned by The Blanton Company, the oldest churning margarin in Missouri, and for the past 15 years maker of the leading animal fat margarin in the United States.

The Blanton Company began operations fifteen years ago in a small building, backed by a limited capital, with the definite purpose to produce, by patient, persistent effort, the highest grade of margarin that skill and brains could create.

Owing to conditions created by the World War, the vegetable fats, formerly marketed in Europe, were diverted to this country and at once became popular because of their economy, nutrition and delicate flavor. Lack of technical knowledge in the churning and the failure of European formulas to meet American tastes delayed their general use in the United States. After years of experiment, The Blanton Company has now perfected a nut butter that meets every requirement of American taste and climatic conditions.

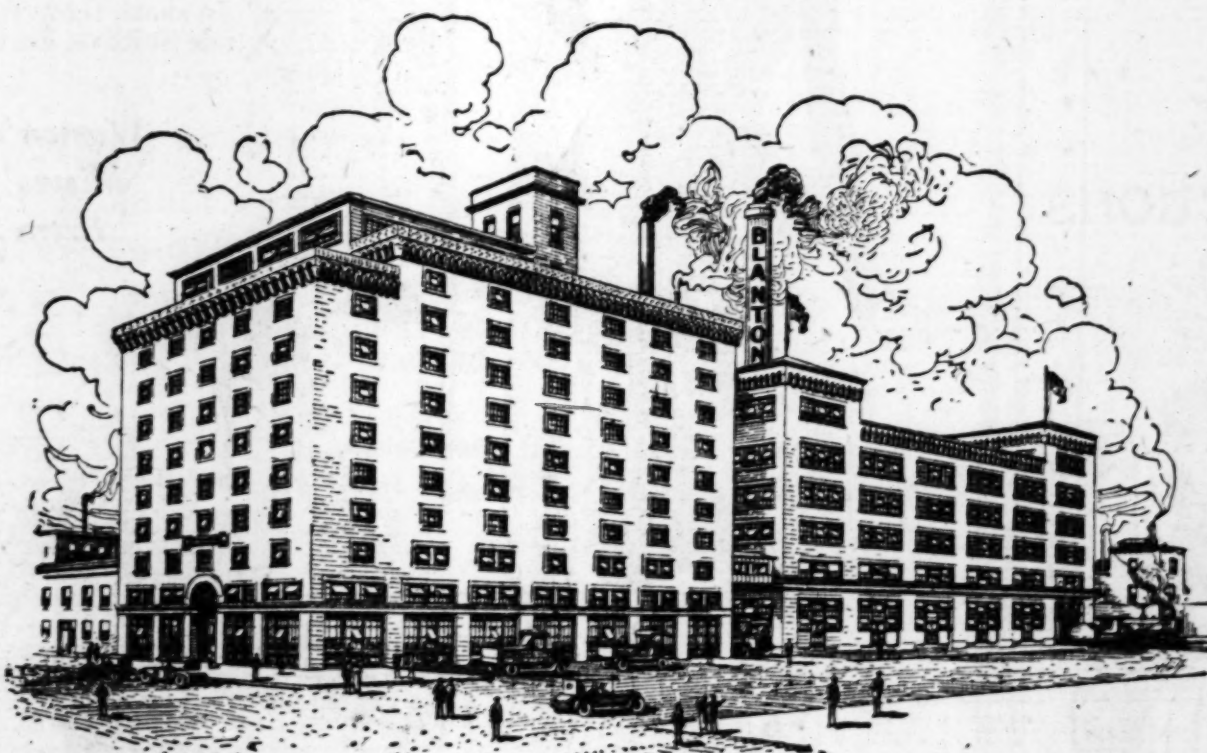

Blanton Creamo Nut Butter has been produced for two years, but only in limited quantities because all available equipment and space were required to meet the demand for Creamo Animal Fat Margarin, sold in the yellow package.

This is now remedied by the erection of a $300,000 steel and concrete plant, which is just being completed, adjacent to the original Creamo plant. This new building will be devoted exclusively to the churning of Blanton Creamo Nut Butter, sold in the Blue Package, which means production on a scale sufficient to meet all demands.

The choicest selected nut oils of highest nutritive value, churned in pure pasteurized cream by the Creammaid process, produces a nut butter with rich, delicate flavor found in no other product.

As a staple, nourishing food, Blanton Creamo Nut Butter will be welcomed on every table, while its purity and easy digestibility will make it even more welcome in the hospital, sick room and nursery. It is always uniform in quality, no matter what the season or climate. And it cuts the butter bills practically in half!

This is the first announcement of a series planned to acquaint every St. Louis family with the new and better table food—BLANTON CREAMO NUT BUTTER.

In producing Creamo Nut Butter only the finest materials obtainable, and such as pass the most rigid laboratory tests, are used. Rich cocoanut meats, fresh from the tropics, are pressed into oil and refined to the highest degree of purity before they're accepted for Blanton use. The cream must be pasteurized to absolutely prevent any possibility of taint or germ. Even the salt is the finest that money can buy.

Fifteen years of painstaking care and intelligent effort have brought results. The original factory, has grown from a small two-story building to the imposing structure here illustrated, covering half a city block, devoted exclusively to the churning of high-grade margarin.

The entire Blanton plant is under United States Government inspection. Everything is immaculately clean—the most wholesome place you ever saw. Visitors are welcome. Come in and let us show you through this big, eleven-story building, which is scrubbed and steam sterilized every day. Then you will realize that Creamo Nut Butter tastes better because it is better. Ask your dealer to send you "the new Creamo Nut Butter in the Blue Package."

Blanton Creamo, in the Yellow Package, is the finest animal fat oleomargarin you can buy. It is churned in pasteurized cream and sold by best dealers everywhere.

TWO WOMEN ARRESTED AT OFFICE OF "REMEDY COMPANY"

They Are Said to Have "Treated" Policewoman and Demanded $9 for 3 Kinds of Medicine.

Mrs. Claire Rinehart, 43 years old, of 8344 Etzel avenue, president of the Coloni Remedy Co., which has an office in the Olivia Building, Grand avenue and Windsor place, and Miss Alona B. Reilly, 25, of 130 Baden avenue, were arrested yesterday in the Olivia Building by policewomen after numerous complaints that they were serving as physicians without license.

Policewomen Alice Buckley and Sue Fletcher visited the office of the Coloni Remedy Co., Miss Fletcher posing as a seeker for relief from headaches and nervousness. She was given a "treatment" upon a table similar to operating tables in physicians' offices, for which a charge of $1 was made. Three kinds of medicine, for which $5 was demanded, also were given to her. She was told that she must undergo a course of five treatments. At this juncture a special officer of the Board of Health entered, posing as the "patient's" husband. He deposited $5 on account. Miss Fletcher was told to return to the office in one week, but to be prepared to pay a larger sum for more medicine, which would be necessary. The arrest of the women followed.

London Bread Prices Increased.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The English working classes and small salaried people are faced with another crisis in the cost of living. The London Master Bakers' Association has announced that beginning Monday the price of bread will be increased from one shilling to one shilling and four pence for a four-pound loaf, and it seems probable that the rest of the country will follow suit.

CONSORTIUM FOR CO-OPERATION OF CHINESE CAPITAL

Bankers in Conference at New York State No Specific Plan for Loan Has Been Considered.

EXTENSIVE PROGRAM OF AID OUTLINED

Head of British Group Says China Must Save Herself Politically—Points Out Revolts Are Bloodless.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Rumors that the Peking Government had been overthrown are being denied by a message received today at the White House from President Hsu Shih Chang, President of the Chinese Republic. The message was dated at Peking yesterday and is a reply to one of congratulation recently sent by the President on the occasion of the Chinese national anniversary.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—China's revolutions are bloodless and must be gauged by internal disorders in Europe, according to Sir Charles Little, head of the group of British bankers who are conferring here with representatives of the United States, France and Japan on an international consortium for the economic advancement of China.

Sir Charles spoke at a luncheon of the conference here yesterday at a time when dispatches from Shanghai brought rumors of overthrow of the Peking Government and proclamation of a monarchy.

The British representative, "who spent many years in China, and who now heads the Hongkong-Shanghai Bank of London, characterized the Chinese as a people distinguished by a national capacity for self-government, with a standard of rectitude deeply rooted in the belief that right is right."

He asserted, however, that the Chinese hopes entertained when China became a republic are not being fulfilled, explaining that the three parties which have been in power have failed to provide a working constitution of any kind.

"Must Save Self Politically." "China, politically, can only be saved by her own exertions," he declared. "The utmost this consortium can do is to assist her efforts and initiative. By the contemplated action of the consortium, however, China can reduce her excessive military forces, which now absorb one-fourth of the country's revenue."

Speeches delivered at the luncheon provided the first public expression of the aims of the consortium since the bankers convened here for a series of conferences planned to last throughout the week. It was explained that no specific loan to China yet had been considered, but an extensive program for getting the republic on its feet was being outlined.

Thomas W. Lamont, of the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., chairman of the consortium, referred to it as a force to weld together in a warm friendship the five nations participating in efforts to aid China.

Lamont stressed a statement that the bankers did not start out to form the consortium with an idea there was "lots of money to be made in China." On the contrary, the four Governments went to the bankers and asked them to help stabilize China by banking groups formed with a patriotic end, he said, adding that "our ability to lend aid depends on the investing community in the various countries."

Chinese Participation Planned. Immediately after the luncheon the conference resumed their executive sessions. In the evening they were guests of Lamont at dinner. The consortium has through the week been officially welcoming the co-operation of local Chinese capital, and a statement issued by the conference.

This co-operation would be in the work of the consortium in "development of China's public enterprises, building of railways, etc." Continuing it said: "The consortium has passed a resolution to be communicated to its representatives in Peking in order that they shall make clear to the government and the Chinese people that the co-operation of a Chinese group, forming a representative national unit and prepared to undertake the obligations involved, be encouraged."

No application has been received from any Chinese groups to co-operate in the work, but a Chinese representative is expected here today, it was stated.

Chinese currency reform and the railway situation were considered yesterday.

"Spanish Race Day" Celebrated.

By the Associated Press.

MAN SALVADOR, Republic of Salvador, Oct. 14.—Elaborate programs were carried out in this city Tuesday in honor of "Spanish Race day." A statue of Cervantes was unveiled, and one of the principal streets was named the "Avenida de Espana." The Government was represented of the exercises.

SEARCH FOR ROBBERS WHO SHOT BANKER AND STOLE $25,000

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 14.—Posses from half a dozen Central California counties are searching the Oakland foothills for four armed men who robbed the Alameda County Bank of Alvarado, 25 miles east of here, of $25,000 in cash today after shooting August H. May, president of the institution.

Shortly before noon, when President May and two employees were alone in the bank, three of the men, two unarmed, rushed into the institution, while a fourth stood on guard outside near a waiting automobile. The two employees, Mrs. C. M. Anderson, bookkeeper, and P. A. Lydecker, assistant cashier, were backed into a vault.

When May protested he was shot twice. Mrs. Anderson said he was thrown into the vault and the door was closed, but not locked. The robbers cleared the counters and all unlocked tills of cash and escaped in the automobile.

A prospective depositor entering the bank later released Mrs. Anderson and Lydecker.

Gen. Trevino Guest of Texas. DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 14.—Gen. Jacinto Trevino, a Cabinet member in the De La Mueria Government of Mexico, accompanied by his staff and 80 representative Mexican business men, arrived in Dallas today to be guests of the State of Texas and the Texas State Fair. The party, which will remain in the State 10 days, received an ovation upon its arrival.

FARMERS TO PRESS DEMANDS FOR MORE LIBERAL CREDITS

Delegates Hope to Get Hearing Before Entire Federal Reserve Board and Its Agents.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Prepared to press their demand for a more liberal credit policy, representatives of agricultural interests in convention here met today with the expectation that they would be granted a hearing before the full membership of the Federal Reserve Board and its agents, assembled for the board's regular fall policy conference. Delegates to the agricultural convention hoped to be able to present their arguments before the board formulates its policy in so far as it affects credits to farmers.

Gov. Harding of the Reserve Board yesterday told a committee which appealed to him for relief that the board was preparing a statement of policy covering all phases of the credit situation. The statement, he said, probably would be made public Saturday. Gov. Harding denied that the board had issued instructions which would result in curtailing farmers' credit.

For three hours a committee from the Reserve Board listened to a delegation from the agricultural conference describe conditions which they said threatened the life of the nation through a reduction of food production. Inability to obtain financial assistance is working the greatest hardship on farmers, the board's committee was informed.

KNOTT DIVORCE CASE ON DOCKET

The divorce suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Knott of 6309 Enright avenue, against Jean Knott, cartoonist, creator of "Let Wedding Bells Ring Out," was set for trial in the Clayton Circuit Court today, but was continued to tomorrow at the request of the attorneys to enable an adjustment of property interests to be completed.

Mrs. Knott obtained a divorce in July, 1916, but was remarried to Knott in February, 1917. The present suit was filed March 20 this year.

RED CROSS CLASSES IN HOME NURSING FOR WOMEN

Red Cross free classes for women and girls who wish to learn the rudiments of home nursing will open at the Y. W. C. A. Monday. Day and evening classes will be held. The day classes convene at 10 a. m., the evening classes at 7:30 p. m.

The course consists of 15 lessons, two or three weekly, the curriculum including such subjects as bandaging, sick room, diet, principles of hygiene and general instructions on what to do before the doctor arrives. The course is not designed to make women qualified nurses, but merely to acquaint them with the general principles to be followed in handling minor home illnesses.

Miss Lena Miller, Red Cross nurse, will conduct the classes. Similar classes are continuing throughout the city at various municipal and Red Cross health clinics. Any woman or girl over the age of 18 years may enter by registering at Red Cross headquarters, 802 Equitable building. Those wishing to organize classes among their organizations also may register here.

Red Cross officials point out that women trained in such classes proved of inestimable help during the last influenza epidemic. A charge of 50 cents is made for a text book.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome, in many instances, by the following treatment, which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parnint (double strength). Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easier, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dripping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh, and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

OPPOSITION TO LEAGUE CANDIDATES PLEGGED BY IRISH

Support of Spencer, L. C. Dyer and Boggy Voted at Joint Session With America First Body at Odeon.

NO CHOICE IN TENTH DISTRICT

Answers of Candidates to Questionnaire of Friends of Irish Freedom Are Read at Meeting.

At a joint meeting of the Friends of Irish Freedom and the America First League at the Odeon last night the greater portion of a gathering that filled the lower floor and part of the balcony of the Odeon, which has a seating capacity of about 1900, pledged support to the Republican national and State tickets, promised to vote against Breckinridge Long, Democratic candidate for Senator from Missouri, and adopted resolutions condemning the League of Nations, praising Senator James A. Reed and demanding that the United States recognize the Irish republic and call the outstanding British loans.

Dr. R. Emmet Kane, a member of the Executive Committee of the Friends of Irish Freedom, presided. He announced that all of the resolutions offered had been approved by this committee and that the committee also had decided to recommend that Irish voters should vote against Cox and Roosevelt, against the Democratic State ticket and against Long.

He also read the answers received by the Friends of Irish Freedom to the questionnaire recently sent out to St. Louis and Missouri candidates asking them how they stood on the Irish question and the League of Nations. On the basis of these answers he said the organization had decided to endorse Selden P. Spencer, Republican, for Senator; L. C. Dyer, Republican, for Congress from the Twelfth district, and Bernard P. Boggy, Republican, for Congress from the Eleventh district.

No Choice in Third.
No choice was made as between Cleveland A. Newton, Democrat, and A. Evan Hughes, Republican, in the Tenth Congressional District. Indorsements were given only to those whose replies to the questionnaire specifically stated, as Dr. Kane put it, that they were "for Ireland and against the League of Nations."

Congressional candidates outside of St. Louis, all Republicans, who were indorsed are T. W. Hukriede, Ninth District; Marion E. Rhodes, Thirteenth District, and C. L. Faust, Fourth District.

In explaining the indorsements Dr. Kane said: "There should be no quarrel with us, because we served notice on the Democratic State Committee and the State convention that if they indorsed the League of Nations and attempted to kick Senator Jim Reed out of the party we would leave the party. We told them that if they wanted the League of Nations and did not want the Irish vote they could have their wish in that respect."

The meeting was opened with an invocation by Monsignor J. J. Tannath, chancellor of the Catholic archdiocese in St. Louis, who closed with a prayer for the preservation of the United States "with no alliance to protect it and no covenant to restrain it." The prayer was vigorously applauded.

References to President.
In his opening address Dr. Kane referred to President Wilson, who, he said, "went to Paris and left God on this side of the ocean." In other speeches at the meeting there were references to the President, all of them uncompromising and some of them bitterly ironical.

Joseph Scott, a Los Angeles (Cal.) attorney, who described himself as a close political friend of Senator Hiram Johnson, devoted the greater part of a long speech to a sarcastic description of President Wilson's visit to Europe, picturing him as a "sucker" who was "trimmed" in the power game of international politics.

Scott dealt at length on the President's visit to England, describing the luxury of his reception by the King and Queen who, he said, fed the President with a table setting of gold plate and gave up the royal bedchamber for him. He made it appear that the President was made a victim of the political and diplomatic trickery of Lloyd George. Every complimentary reference to Great Britain was loudly cheered.

Refer to Cox's Pledge.
In reference to the pledge given by Gov. Cox at last Monday night's meeting in the Coliseum that if elected President he would bring the Irish question to the attention of the League of Nations, Scott said: "I am Hiram Johnson's political friend. Senator Johnson has insisted that the League of Nations, as the paramount question of this campaign, should be left to the referendum of the ballot box. He knows that if Cox is elected it will be a sign that the people want the League of Nations. In that event Johnson must vote for the league in the Senate or give up his seat."

"I know Cox has said that if he is elected he is going to refer the Irish question to the League of Nations. The best answer to that was given to Cox when he made the same statement out in Butte, Mont. And when he said he was going to put the Irish question before the league a rough-spoken miner in the audience shouted: 'The hell you are.'"

Patrick H. O'Donnell of Chicago, the other speaker, also made a reference to Cox's pledge.

"Gov. Cox," he said, "has told us that if elected President it will be his first high duty and great pleasure to take Ireland's cause before the League of Nations under article 11 of the covenant. Fifty years ago when the Irish who had come over here as immigrants were ignorant that state-

$895,215 PERSONALTY LISTEDIN J. D. ABLES INVENTORY

Seven Parcels of Realty Also Estate Bequeathed to His Seven Sons.

An inventory of the estate of Julius D. Ables, former president of the Commercial Building Co., who died Aug. 15 at his home, 4140 Washington boulevard, was filed yesterday. It shows seven parcels of realty and personal property, the latter with an aggregate value of $895,215.46.

The following include the personal property: Notes, $493,567; accounts, $2000; stocks in corporation—$471,472; bonds, $11,360; cash, $2987.90; chattels, $1245, and a membership in the Mercantile Library valued at $500. His principal stock holdings consist of $475,000 of the Commercial Building property and $47,000 of the Terminal Hotel and Arcade Co., which operates the Terminal Hotel in Union Station.

Ables, in his will, left his estate to his seven sons—James, John, Robert, Charles, Clifford, Alfred and Francis. At the end of five years six of the sons are to receive their shares without restriction, but the share of Francis, the will provides, is to remain as a "spendthrift" trust to protect the bequest to him.

If he has shown that he may be entrusted with the management of this property, his share may be turned over to him at the end of another five-year period.

Legion Ceremonies Sunday

Dedication of colors of the Peers-Williams Post of the American Legion will take place at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the drill field south of Jefferson Memorial at Forest Park. Invocation will be given by State Chaplain Thomas Kennedy. John C. Peers, father of David Peers, after whom the Post is named, will present the colors, and Col. John H. Parker, U. S. A., will speak. Music will be furnished by a band from the Quentin Roosevelt Post.

EDITOR WINDLE FIGHTING, NOT AIDING PROHIBITION IN SCOTLAND

Special Correspondence From Glasgow. Editor of the Scots.

In special correspondence from Glasgow about the approaching local option election in Scotland, published in the Post-Dispatch Oct. 2, appeared the statement that C. A. Windle of Chicago, editor of Brann's Iconoclast, was one of the dry speakers engaged by the prohibition forces to lecture in the campaign.

The Post-Dispatch learns that the statement was erroneous. Windle is lecturing in Scotland, but against prohibition. C. Pliny Windle, associate editor of Brann's Iconoclast, in asking the Post-Dispatch to correct the correspondent's error, writes:

"He (Windle) looks upon prohibition as fundamentally wrong in principle and un-Christian in character and has challenged the prohibition champion, 'Pussfoot' Johnson, to joint debate, which Johnson so far has refused to accept. Editor Windle would as soon be accused of murder as he would be of being charged with advocating prohibition."

OPPOSITION TO LEAGUE CANDIDATES PLEDGED BY IRISH

ment might have had some effect. But I tell you that long before he entered the field the Irish people had risen up and denounced the League of Nations as unfit for free people.

"The man who thinks he's fooling the Irish is fooling himself. Cox can't fool any Irishman. Cox will make the Irish question before the League of Nations. Yes he will—when he is President."

O'Donnell drew applause when he referred to the covenant as "the infamous League of Nations brought home by President Wilson on his hip," and when, referring to the "14 points" he said it "looked as if Wilson were trying to take down the rooster and put up the porcupine as the Democratic emblem."

Anti-League Resolution. The anti-League of Nations and anti-Democratic resolution adopted was as follows:

Whereas, The League of Nations is un-American, surrendering our sovereignty and league us with Governments which are antagonistic to the spirit of liberty and justice, one of whom, England, the dominant factor, is even at this moment, shooting unarmed Irishmen, women and children, looting their homes, burning their factories and destroying every industry that sustains Irish life;

Therefore, Be it resolved, That we, citizens of St. Louis, in mass meeting assembled, emphatically and unequivocally, condemn the League of Nations and the party that sponsors it, and call on all Americans who love the republic of Washington and Jefferson and Lincoln and Roosevelt better than the League of Nations of Woodrow Wilson, to vote against the Democratic party in the coming election.

In putting this resolution to a vote Dr. Kane said: "All in favor will say 'Aye.'" After an unmistakably affirmative response Dr. Kane said: "Now all opposed will say: 'I prefer Great Britain.'" Nobody cared to say that and it was announced that the resolution was unanimously carried. There was no question that it received a great majority vote.

Demand for Recognition. The resolution calling on the United States to recognize the Irish republic and call the English loan was as follows:

Whereas, Terence McSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, is the embodiment of all the principles for which Americans at least were led to believe the world war was fought, and

Whereas, This great patriot and 11 of his colleagues are now suffering the greatest torture to man, in protest against the failure of the British Government to apply those principles in the case of Ireland.

Resolved, Therefore, In order that the sacrifices made by the Irish on every battlefield of the war and being made by the Irish in their homes and in British prisons today, to make the world safe for democracy, be not made in vain, we demand that our Government recognize the Irish Republic and call the English loans which make it possible for the British Government to maintain its army of occupation in Ireland; and be it further

Resolved, That we call on the American Red Cross to extend at once its aid to the homeless, suffering, starving people of Ireland, even as it did to those in Belgium, in France and in Poland, who gave up everything in order that liberty might live.

Resolution Praising Reed. The resolution praising Senator Reed was as follows:

Whereas, Senator James A. Reed, who loves his country better than his party, has fearlessly and unflinchingly fought the League of Nations, and stands for the Constitution of the United States inviolate and unbridled.

Be it resolved, that we citizens of St. Louis, irrespective of political belief, endorse the conduct of the senior Senator of Missouri and commend him for the noble fight he has made to preserve American independence.

In the early stage of the meeting, before the resolutions were introduced, Dr. Kane called for a rising vote on the question of endorsing the national and State Republican tickets. Practically all in the hall rose to signify their approval of the endorsement. Six men who rose when the negative vote was called for were hissed and they quickly sat down.

Use Liaka cold cream instead! You have never used anything like it. Just try it once, and you will never be without it. Soap and water has a tendency to make the skin rough, and does not cleanse the skin as thoroughly as Liaka cold cream. To prove it make this test: Wash your face with soap and water, then wipe off the superfluous cream with a soft white cloth. Examine the skin and see how much dirt has accumulated thereon. Liaka cold cream, for sunburn or after a dusty auto trip, there is nothing like it. It's fine after shaving, too. Let hubby or brother try it. Just compare Liaka cold cream with any other you have ever used, and you will need no further argument to convince you that it's the best. It's out up in tubes, the only sanitary way. Try it tonight. Some More Truths.

WOULD you use a steam shovel to move a pebble? Certainly not. Implements are built according to the work they have to do.

Would you use a grown-up's remedy for your baby's ills? Certainly not. Remedies are prepared according to the work THEY have to do.

All this is preliminary to reminding you that Fletcher's Castoria was sought out, found and is prepared solely as a remedy for Infants and Children. And let this be a warning against Substitutes, Counterfeits and the Just-as-good stuff that may be all right for you in all your strength, but dangerous for the little babe.

All the mother-love that lies within your heart cries out to you: Be true to Baby. And being true to Baby you will keep in the house remedies specially prepared for babies as you would a baby's food, hairbrush, toothbrush or sponge.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Are You Prepared?

A doctor in the house all the time would be a good idea. Yet you can't afford to keep a doctor in the family to keep baby well or prevent sickness. But you can do almost the same thing by having at hand a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria, because it is a wonderful remedy for indigestion, colic, feverishness, fretfulness and all the other disorders that result from common ailments that babies have.

Fletcher's Castoria is perfectly safe to use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Children cry for Fletcher's Castoria, and mothers recommend it because they have found it a comfort to children and a mother's friend.

If you love your baby, you know how sweet it is to be able to help baby when trouble comes. You cannot always call upon a doctor. But doctors have nothing but good to say of Fletcher's Castoria, because they know that it can only do good—that it can't do any harm—and they wouldn't want you to use for baby a remedy that you would use for yourself.

LEAGUE IS HARSH AND AUTOCRATIC, BORAH ASSERTS

Idaho Senator, Campaigning for Moses, Says Scheme Looks Good on Paper, but Is Bad in Analysis.

TALKS OF 'PLEDGES THAT ARE COMPELLING'

Discusses Carrying Out of Decisions of Peace Conference "With Blood and Treasure of U. S."

By the Associated Press. MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 14.—President Wilson in a speech at the peace conference, already subject of widely published controversy between him and Senator Spencer, of Missouri, declared "that if any covenants of this settlement are not observed the United States will send her armies and navies to see that they are observed." Senator Borah of Idaho, asserted in an address here last night in support of Senator Moses, one of the "irreconcilable" foes of the League of Nations.

"The controversy between Senator Spencer and the President has been interesting," said Senator Borah, "not so much because it may illustrate the fallibility of memory, but because it shows how this league looks when you begin to view it in its practical workings. The moment you descend from the optimistic dream of theories to the world of concrete things it looks altogether different. So long as you confine yourself to the league on paper and dwell in the world of rhetoric, everything seems well."

Practical Workings of League. "But when you get down to the actual workings of the league it seems hard and autocratic and altogether objectionable. When they tell us that the league will bring peace, everybody wants peace, and so favors the league. But when you turn from theory to fact and see it obligates us to send our boys across the sea, our army and our navy, it creates an uproar of disapproval and hastens explanations and denials. Yet that is precisely what the league in its practical workings means."

There are two things stated in the speech President Wilson put out as authoritative, which sustain every charge we have ever made against this gigantic autocracy based on force. The first statement reads as follows: "And back of that lies the fundamental and important fact that when the decisions are made the allied and associated powers guarantee to maintain them." How are you going to maintain them except by sending the army and the navy across the sea?

We have first the solemn guarantee of the allied and associated Powers to maintain all decisions and all boundaries. As to how we are going to do this is answered by the President himself in another place in the same speech in which he says: "If any covenants of this settlement are not observed, the United States will send her armies and navies to see that they are observed." We must not close our eyes to the fact that in the last analysis the military and naval strength of the great Powers will be the final guarantee of the peace of the world."

Knox's Question to Wilson. "When the President was before the Foreign Relations Committee Senator Knox asked this question: 'Suppose that it is perfectly obvious that there is an external aggression against some Power, and suppose it is perfectly obvious and accepted that it cannot be repelled except by force of arms, would we be under any legal obligation to participate?' The President replied to this, 'No, sir; but we would be under an absolutely compelling moral obligation.'"

"I take it that it will not make very much difference to the American people, to the sons and mothers of America, whether you call it a legal obligation or a moral obligation or what you call it, if it is an obligation absolutely compelling and from the execution of which there is no escape. Is it not perfectly plain that we guarantee the settlements and the boundaries of Europe and that if there is an actual disturbance of these boundaries we are under an absolutely compelling moral obligation to send our armies and our navies across the sea? Is it not equally plain that we are carrying out the decisions of these men representing the whole world, the divisions which they made, the boundaries which they established, and that we are doing so by the blood and treasure of America? . . .

"The incredible thing about this whole proposition is that such a scheme should have ever been seriously submitted to a people who have been trained to democracy and devoted to the principles of popular Government."

HARDING'S STAND ON LEAGUE INDORSED BY SENATOR JOHNSON

"Nothing Ambiguous or Uncertain in Candidate's Declaration," He Says.

By the Associated Press.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 14.—Speaking at a political rally last night under the auspices of the Republican National Committee, Senator Hiram

W. Johnson of California gave unqualified approval to the position of Senator Harding on the issue of the League of Nations. Senator Johnson said:

"There is no question of Senator Harding's position. For reasons of their own, certain interested individuals and newspapers may misrepresent and misinterpret his words. I resent these imputations upon the sincerity of the utterances of the candidate and the manifest endeavor in some quarters to distort his plain language."

"In some instances the comment has been mere rank misrepresentation; in others disingenuous interpretation. I do not object to some men in this campaign saving their faces, so long as they do not save their league; but I will not permit to go unchallenged from other sources the falsification of the position of the Republican party and Senator Harding's stand."

"There is nothing ambiguous or uncertain in our candidate's declaration. He has courageously taken his stand. He has put behind him, to use his own language, this menacing pact. He seeks, as he says, neither interpretations nor reservations, but rejection."

A Home-Made Gray Hair Remedy

You can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Harbe Compound and a ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look many years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Gets $15,000 for Loss of Arm.
Elmer J. Gorman, foreman of a switch crew on the East St. Louis Connecting Railway Co., obtained a judgment yesterday in the Circuit Court for $15,000 for the loss of his right arm. The evidence was that the injury resulted from an engineer misinterpreting a signal which Gorman gave. When the accident occurred, July 21, 1919, the railroads were under Government control, and the judgment is accordingly against the Government. The suit was for $35,000.

POLES READY TO MEET LITHUANIANS AGAIN

Polish Foreign Minister Agrees to Cessation of Hostilities on Present Line.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Lithuanian delegation in London has received an official dispatch from Kovno to the effect that Prince Sapieha, the Polish Foreign Minister, has sent a note to Lithuania agreeing to the Poles ceasing hostilities on their present line and proposing to resume peace negotiations at Orany.

Lithuania, the dispatch adds, demands that the Polish troops immediately evacuate Vilna and that the Polish Government declares its attitude toward the so-called Government of Gen. Zelgowski and M. Abramowicz, the well known Polish Nationalist leader, from whom it declares, all military supplies should be cut off.

Final Peace Conference May Be in Paris or London.

By the Associated Press.

RIGA, Oct. 14.—M. Joffe, with the greater part of the Russian Soviet delegation, left Riga last night for Moscow. M. Dombek, head of the Polish mission, will remain in Riga until Saturday.

No arrangements have been made for the final peace conference, but rumors are current that it will not be held at Riga. Paris and London are suggested.

Thomas Nareuchevitch, the Lithuanian representative, who negotiated the Lithuanian peace with the Soviets, and acted for Lithuanian interests during the Riga conference, left yesterday for Kovno, much disappointed over the Lithuanian boundary fixed at the Riga negotiations and embittered by the seizure of Vilna by Gen. Zelgowski's troops. He said that the Lithuanians had received an offer for a Bolshevik alliance last June, but refused it.

On August 26 the Poles offered an alliance, with the frontier of the Grodno-Lida railway, declared M. Nareuchevitch, and threatened that

She found no one in her room, but her jewelry, which had been placed on the top of a dresser, were missing. They included a pearl necklace valued at $60,000, a wrist watch with diamond set clasps and other articles of lesser value. C. E. Danforth, a stock broker, is said to have lost jewelry valued at $5000.

SPENCER TO PRESIDE AT THE MEETING

Babler's Name Not on the Committee Named to Escort Candidate From Union Station.

The speech of Senator Harding, Republican nominee for the presidency, at the Coliseum Saturday night, will be on the subject of the extension of the foreign trade of the United States, according to a telegram to the Post-Dispatch, today from the Republican National Committee headquarters in Chicago. It is expected the speech will be devoted largely to business affairs, with a discussion of the Republican tariff principles.

Chairman Hughes of the Republican State Committee and Chairman Strodtman of the Republican City Committee yesterday announced the names of members of the Reception Committee which will meet Senator Harding and escort him to the Coliseum.

The exact hour of his arrival has not been announced. Arrangements have been made for him to speak at the East St. Louis City Hall shortly after 6 o'clock. The Reception Committee will meet him at Union Station.

National Committeeman Babler was not named as a member of the Reception Committee, and Hughes and Strodtman also did not include their names. John Schmoll, former chairman of the City Committee, who was defeated for re-election and also for the nomination for Sheriff at the August primary, was named a member, as was also Collector Koehn, who led the fight for the "house cleaners" against Schmoll. Mayor Kiel was named chairman and Senator Spencer was chosen to preside at the Coliseum. Arthur M. INSANE OFFICER ORDERED CAPTIVE HAITIANS KILLED

Gen. Lejeune Says Marines Tried for "Indiscriminate Executions" of Natives Were Acquitted.

CASE RESULTED IN ORDER FOR INQUIRY

Gen. Barnett Calling for Investigation, Declared He Was "Shocked Beyond Expression."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Major-General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, said today that the two Marine Corps private who were tried for killing captive Haitian bandits, executed the prisoners on orders of their commanding officer, Lieut. H. T. Brokaw, who subsequently was adjudged insane and removed from the service. The private were acquitted, the General said.

Evidence adduced at the trial of the two men led to an investigation of what Brigadier-General Barnett, then commandant of the corps, characterized as "indiscriminate killings" of Haitians. Disclosure that summary investigation of the killings by United States Marines was ordered more than a year ago by Major-General Barnett, then commandant of the Marine Corps, was made yesterday in publication of a report by Gen. Barnett on operations in Haiti during American occupation.

Evidence at the trial of two marine privates for the killing of natives "shocked me beyond expression," Gen. Barnett said in a letter of Sept. 27 to Col. John H. Russell, commanding in Haiti, ordering an immediate investigation with the approval of Secretary Daniels. It was at once carried out by Col. Russell, who submitted a report to the Navy Department March 20, 1920, but Gen. Barnett said, the report had not been turned over to Marine Corps headquarters up to last June, when he was succeeded as commandant of the corps by Major-General John A. Lejeune.

Gen. Lejeune declined to discuss the result of the investigation which Gen. Barnett ordered last year immediately after examining the evidence adduced at the trial of the two marines, and which he referred to in his report to Secretary Daniels yesterday on Marine Corps operations in Haiti up to last June 30. Gen. Lejeune said Secretary Daniels probably would have a statement to make on his return to Washington tomorrow.

Gen. Barnett's report contains no indication of the result of the investigation and for this reason, as it covers operations in Haiti only up to the time he was relieved as commandant.

Special Report Ordered.
Secretary Daniels, it was shown, ordered Gen. Barnett, Sept. 13 last, to submit a special report on conditions causing the investigation. This report was incorporated in the general operations report made public today. Gen. Barnett received the order while on leave of absence shortly after publication of statements by Senator Harding criticizing the naval administration in Haiti.

In Secretary Daniels' absence from Washington tonight the report of Col. Russell on his investigation was not available.

In his letter to Col. Russell ordering the investigation, Gen. Barnett declared testimony at the trial of the two marine privates, as well as arguments presented by counsel for the defense, Lieut. F. L. Spear, "showed me that practically indiscriminate killing of natives has gone on for some time."

"Judging by the knowledge gained only from the cases that have been brought before me," the General declared, "I think that the Marine Corps has been sadly lacking in right and justice, and I look to you to see that this is corrected and corrected at once."

"I was shocked beyond expression to hear of such things and to know that it was at all possible that duty could be so badly performed by marines of any class."

"I want personal instructions sent to every officer and noncommissioned officer, both with the Marines and Gendarmes (Haitian Constabulary), that conditions as shown by the evidence of the trial of the private above referred to must be corrected, and that such action cannot be tolerated for a moment."

Col. Russell wrote Gen. Barnett last October that he had "taken the matter up most seriously," and issued confidential orders to his forces in line with Gen. Barnett's letter. He said he also had issued a new proclamation to the Haitian people, the text of which was not given in Gen. Barnett's report. The General replied he had ordered members of the corps, then in the United States, who had previously served in Haiti, examined, and that he would order the return to Haiti of "any such people as may seem necessary."

The Navy Department made public Oct. 5 a special report prepared by Gen. Lejeune, now commandant of the corps, on the work of the Marines in Haiti during his term of office. It declared that "peace and tranquility" prevailed in the island which Gen. Lejeune had just inspected, and that the Marines had won the gratitude of all law-abiding natives for their work in suppressing the bandits. No mention was made of the incidents disclosed in Gen. Barnett's report, or of the fact that the conduct of the Marines had been under investigation.

ST. LOUIS CAR CO. TO RESUME
PARTIAL PRODUCTION IN WEEK

Partial production at the St. Louis Car Co. plant, 8000 North Broadway, will be resumed within a week or two, it was announced at the plant today. An inventory is now being taken to ascertain the loss caused by Monday night's fire, the total of which is expected to exceed $1,000,000. The loss is covered by insurance, the aggregate insurance protection of the plant being $3,000,000.

Work on 50 trailer cars for the United Railways Co., which were to have been delivered late in November, will be delayed as a result of the fire, and the company's officials were unable today to say when it would be possible to deliver them. The cars were ordered to relieve overcrowding on the different United Railways lines, at the direction of the State Public Service Commission.

The assembling buildings, which were saved, will be used for all operations as work is resumed, and the units of production which were destroyed by the loss of the fabricating buildings will be built up as rapidly as possible in the buildings which remain. Edwin B. Meisner, vice president of the company, returned from the East yesterday, and will be in charge of the reconstruction work.

Collection of clothing for the army, the object of the proposed limit, will be continued on a voluntary basis, the Consul's dispatch added.

Contributions to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund to date total $6089 and it is expected that when final reports are made on various benefit affairs which have been given that the fund will reach the $7000 goal which was set as the amount necessary to finance the work for the babies this year.

The Milk and Ice Fund will not be formally closed tomorrow, but will be held open until Sunday to allow more time for final returns. Those who have not made a report of the money which they have collected are urged to bring or mail their donations to the cashier of the Post-Dispatch at the earliest possible time, so that the records can be completed for the season.

The song recital which was given for the benefit of the fund at the American Theater last Friday by Miss Grace La Rue, netted more than $400 and returns are still coming in. The receipts so far are $443.36, and Mrs. A. Moll, who had charge of the distribution of tickets, states that about $35 is outstanding.

A show at 5435 Hartman avenue earned $7.91. It was given July 1 by the following children: Merry Gross, Jeanette Sloan, Elizabeth Brigham, Mary Lubbe, Lucille Reid and Lelia O'Brien.

A check for $5 was received from Mrs. C. W. Swingley, treasurer of the Board of Religious Organizations, with the statement that the board wished to contribute that amount toward the Pure Milk Fund work.

BURGLARS SLUG PHYSICIAN AND SET FIRE TO HIS HOME

Victim Regains Consciousness and Escapes by Jumping From Second-Story Window.

By the Associated Press.
DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 14.—Slugged unconscious by burglars who ransacked and then set fire to his palatial home here, Dr. Wilton McCarthy, prominent surgeon, aroused from his stupor by the crackle of flames, escaped by jumping from the second story of the blazing residence about 9:15 last night.

Awakened by the noise, he started to investigate, when dealt a staggering blow over the head. He fell unconscious across the cot on which he had been sleeping. He awoke to a sickening pain in the head, the heavy odor of smoke and gas, and the crackle of flames. By this time probably half an hour had elapsed since he was slugged, the doctor told police. The fire had spread swiftly through the first floor of the house. Neighbors had sent in the fire alarm, and when the department arrived the entire first floor was a mass of ruins.

There is no clue to the assailant, police believing the bandits, to make sure of complete destruction, set fire to the house in three places. The damage was estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

To Protect Women and Children.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I was asked this week by the Mothers' Club of the Ferguson Public Schools for my views on four bills that are of vital interest to the people of the country, especially to the mothers. Inasmuch as the same question has been asked me by many women of the Tenth District, in which I am an independent dry candidate for Congress, will you kindly permit me to answer them through the columns of your paper?

The bills cited are the following: Shepherd-Towner (maternity bill), Smith-Towner (educational bill), Kenyon-Poss (vocational training bill) and Groma (regulating packing industry).

I am in favor of the provisions of all our measures. May I say, in addition, that I am also in favor of pensions to mothers of large families, which might be in the nature of bonuses or in a small quarterly payment to aid in the task of rearing future Americans. I am also in favor of laws that will protect women and children in industry and to prohibit the employment of the latter in industries considered dangerous.

It is a shame that the nation has not long since shown the same regard for her mothers and the new-born babies that it has for the animal life of the country. The stock industry of the nation has been properly safeguarded and country-wide efforts made to insure its high grading. The same is true of the work carried on for agriculture. Both endeavors are important to the interests of the country, but not nearly so important as the human asset that we have in the homes of America. I am in favor of laws that will protect the mother and the new-born babies that she has for the animal life of the country.

For a long time I have been in favor of establishing a Federal department of education, with a secretary of education, who shall be a member of the Cabinet, with the same standing as the Secretary of Agriculture, Labor, etc. Under this department we should have a program of education that would reach and benefit every school throughout the country, including Federal aid to the schools of each state.

This department of education might be given power to foster vocational training for the youth of the land, which would tend to develop them physically, as well as to train them in the mechanical trades and educate their minds. This work, as well as other Federal educational work, should be done in co-operation with the several states. I am opposed to universal military training, which can but lead to war. The right vocational development and training will lead to health, happiness and prosperity.

As to the regulation of the packing industry, I am not only in favor of this, but also of regulating all other great corporations nation-wide in scope, which sold the living of the American people in their grasp. I am also for laws that will curb the profiteer and help the American housewife to get a square meal for her family, house and clothes them, without having to pay 100 per cent profit on what she buys. Measures like these put into force would give women and children and men of moderate means a chance to live and lay by something for their future.

SAMUEL T. LARKIN.

Compulsory Jay-Walking.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Now that every motorist has provided himself with a "Jay-Walker's" sign, which is proudly if not insolently displayed from the windshield of the car, and the honking of horns has suddenly become more insistent at the crossings, a innocent bystander would like to inquire of some good constitutional lawyer, alchemist or two-story thinker as to the status of some 500 men, women and children who are confirmed jay-walkers, not of their own volition.

In reconstructing West Florissant avenue about five years ago the city granted the United Railways Co. the privilege of moving its car tracks from the center of the west side of the street, skirting the property line of Bellefontaine Cemetery. Without permission, however, the U. R. Co. removed the car-stop from the Boulevard street intersection to a point midway in the block. The street is 54 feet wide, and a very busy thoroughfare. Five hundred persons are daily forced to wade in the dangerous pastime of jay-walking.

The U. R. Co. when appealed to, was adamant; it smiled sardonically and said: Jay-walking is a fine thing for you people.

The Department of Public Utilities rewarded gleefully on a request for assistance, silently confirming and assenting to the will of the U. R. Co. that jay-walking is a fine thing for the people.

The Public Service Commission, through Judge Eugene McQuillin, who heard the evidence, rendered a decision that the car-stop in the middle of the block is the proper place and that jay-walking is neither dangerous nor injurious, but a fine thing for the people.

Our learned friends are now displaying "Jay-Walking" signs on the windshield of their motor cars. Why not? Answer me that.

A JAY-WALKER.

SAVING THE LEAGUE.

In an article in the Yale Review, which was published in part in the Post-Dispatch, Mr. Taft says a hard task. He tries to convince the people that Senator Harding will accept the existing League of Nations after the election because he will be forced to do so by the impossibility of doing anything else. The existing League, Mr. Taft thinks, "is necessary to our welfare and the welfare of the world, and it is, with or without reservations, the only League possible. Mr. Harding's vague suggestion of a new association of nations which we will form, Mr. Taft completely disposes of in the following paragraph:

More than this, any plan to achieve Mr. Harding's desired purpose by means of a new association of all nations will prove impracticable. The League of Nations, save Russia, Germany, Austria, Turkey and the United States, is now functioning and has been in existence for eight months. By the fourth of next March it will be a year old. Can we suppose that the 50 or more nations will consent to abandon that League and begin de novo the formation of something else?

Thus Mr. Taft ruthlessly exposes the folly of his candidate's substitute for the League. It is a deadly criticism, not only of the plan, but of the judgment or the sincerity of the candidate who is trying to use it to gain votes from the supporters of the League.

Mr. Taft, with less brevity, but with as ruthless logic, disposes of Mr. Harding's plan of a resolution of peace, reserving the advantages of the Versailles peace treaty. He says it will require a separate treaty with Germany, which will never be ratified by the Senate. In short, the separate peace plan is an impossibility. It can't be done.

So, reasoning by elimination, Mr. Taft finds nothing for Mr. Harding and the Republican party to do but accept the League of Nations—the so-called hated Wilson League—with a few reservations to satisfy those who fancy it needs clarifying. In short, Mr. Taft concludes, with irresistible logic, that the only sane and possible policy, the policy that will conserve and promote our welfare and the welfare of the world, is the Democratic policy—the plan inaugurated by President Wilson and supported by Gov. Cox, namely, to ratify the peace treaty and enter the League of Nations, with reasonable reservations.

Mr. Harding says he won't do this. He is for staying out of the League. He is for its rejection. It is "scrapped," Mr. Taft says he will be forced to accept and to go in with the other nations to preserve peace and maintain international justice and law. He says this is the view of Mr. Root, who has joined with other representative men in framing the court of the League.

Which shall the people believe—Mr. Harding, who says he won't have the League, or Mr. Taft, who thrusts aside all of Mr. Harding's schemes as impracticable and says he will be forced to accept the League? Is Mr. Harding dealing in impracticable and destructive folly to save his election? Is Mr. Taft dealing in apologies for Mr. Harding and in far-fetched explanations to "save his face"? Which shall the people believe—Mr. Harding, who says he will have nothing to do with the League, or Mr. Taft, who says he will have to take it after the election?

There is another, larger question for voters who do not have to save their faces, but who want to save the League, with all it means to us and to civilization. Will they save the League by voting for a candidate who denounces it and says he is against it, or by voting for a man who commends and says he is for it? If you had an important task, would you intrust it to the man who says he won't do it, or to the man who says he will do it?

There can be no doubt, though, that Mr. Harding will have the enthusiastic support of all farmers who want a return to the good old Republican times when wheat occasionally threatened to go as high as a dollar a bushel.

OUR SAGEBUSH ANOMALY.

Those "estimates by the Census Bureau" for years in which no enumeration is made are always interesting and often furnish cities with a cheering basis for claims as to a more rapid progress than their rivals. But in the case of Nevada the "estimates" went so sadly astray as to show that they might better be called guesses, and guesses they are in very many instances. The count of noses showed 81,875 people in the Sagebrush State 10 years ago, which number the Census Bureau "estimates" had increased to 110,728 by 1917 and to 114,742 by 1920. As late as 1919 the estimate was that Nevadans numbered 118,745, but the count in January, 1920, showed that instead of gaining more than 37,000 the State lost 468 persons, an error of nearly 42,000, or more than 50 per cent, in the actual figures.

Admitted to the Union in October, 1864, in order that its two Senators might supply needed votes for Republican political measures, Nevada became a problem in American government when its population, after reaching 62,266 in 1890, began to decline with the playing out of the Comstock lode. In the succeeding 20 years it lost a third of its people. The absurdity of two Senators and one Congressman as the representation at Washington for the 42,335 people it had in 1900 aroused bitter protest. New mining development and perhaps also divorce colonialization at Reno caused an influx which almost doubled the population in 1910, but if another decline has now set in there will be no telling where it will stop.

As long as it continues the forty-eighth State in population, though the fourth in area, Nevada will

MR. ROOT'S SIGNIFICANT SPEECH.

There is significance in the fact, which the acute public mind will not fail to observe, that Elihu Root's first public appearance since his return from Europe was before the student body of Hamilton College. And there is more poignant significance in what he did not say than in what he did say.

"The country," he said, "is in the same condition it was when I spoke to you a year ago. The same general nervousness is apparent. There is a general world neurosis." Some remarks about Europe—its poverty, its industrial chaos and its shattered morale—led up to conclusions which, however trite, bear reiteration:

We cannot go back to the social relations that existed before the war. We must move forward. New conceptions must replace the old ones. We must regard our fellow-beings in a far different light.

How is such a speech by such a speaker at such a time to be interpreted? Here we are at the crisis of a presidential campaign. The prospects of Republican victory, so swaggeringly certain a little while ago, have lost their glow. Confidence has yielded to anxiety. What sort of message, then, is this homily on a new world, with a new day and new duties? The Republican party, accustomed to turn to Elihu Root for light and guidance in its moments of need, surely expected a ringing declaration of faith and a powerful appeal for popular support. Why has the party's intellectual guardian forsaken it at this perilous juncture, when the need for counsel and encouragement is cruelly pressing?

If Mr. Root believes what he has just said, that "we cannot go back to the social relations that existed before the war," and that "new conceptions must replace the old ones," it is manifest that he cannot advocate the election of Mr. Harding. His intellectual integrity must shrink from the hypocrisy of supporting a man who seemingly is unaware that the old order has passed, whose vision contemplates nothing greater, or more desirable, than the rubbing out of the last six years and the restoration of the status quo ante, with its special privileges, its special abominations, its absurd castes, its miserable customs. Such is the woof and warp of back to normalcy.

What party importunity and supplication may persuade Mr. Root to do before Nov. 2 cannot be hazarded, but the difference between Mr. Harding and Mr. Root now is the difference between groping futilely towards a dead yesterday and striding out bravely towards a shining tomorrow.

THE NEW SCHOOL HOLIDAY.

Should the teachers as a class attempt to cast their ballots before the usual hour for opening or after the usual hour for closing the schools, the result might be inconvenience, confusion, delay, slighted school work and perhaps a loss of votes in some instances. Greater recognition of election day becomes necessary in the schools than was given when only a few men teachers, a negligible percentage of the whole number, had the vote. An unforeseen consequence of woman suffrage—we may be sure that there will be many such unforeseen consequences—is accordingly the creation of a new school holiday, or rather, half-holiday, to give the whole teaching force an opportunity to go to the polls. None should neglect the opportunity. Undoubtedly this half holiday, which will be not less appreciated by pupils because primarily instituted for the benefit of the teachers, will be permanent.

So the school-year calendar continues to be a faithful index of the life of the people. From a knowledge of that calendar alone, the future savant might have a tolerable degree of success in reconstructing our complex civilization.

Mr. Cox pointed out that the churches are all for the League of Nations, and he might have included the Parsons.

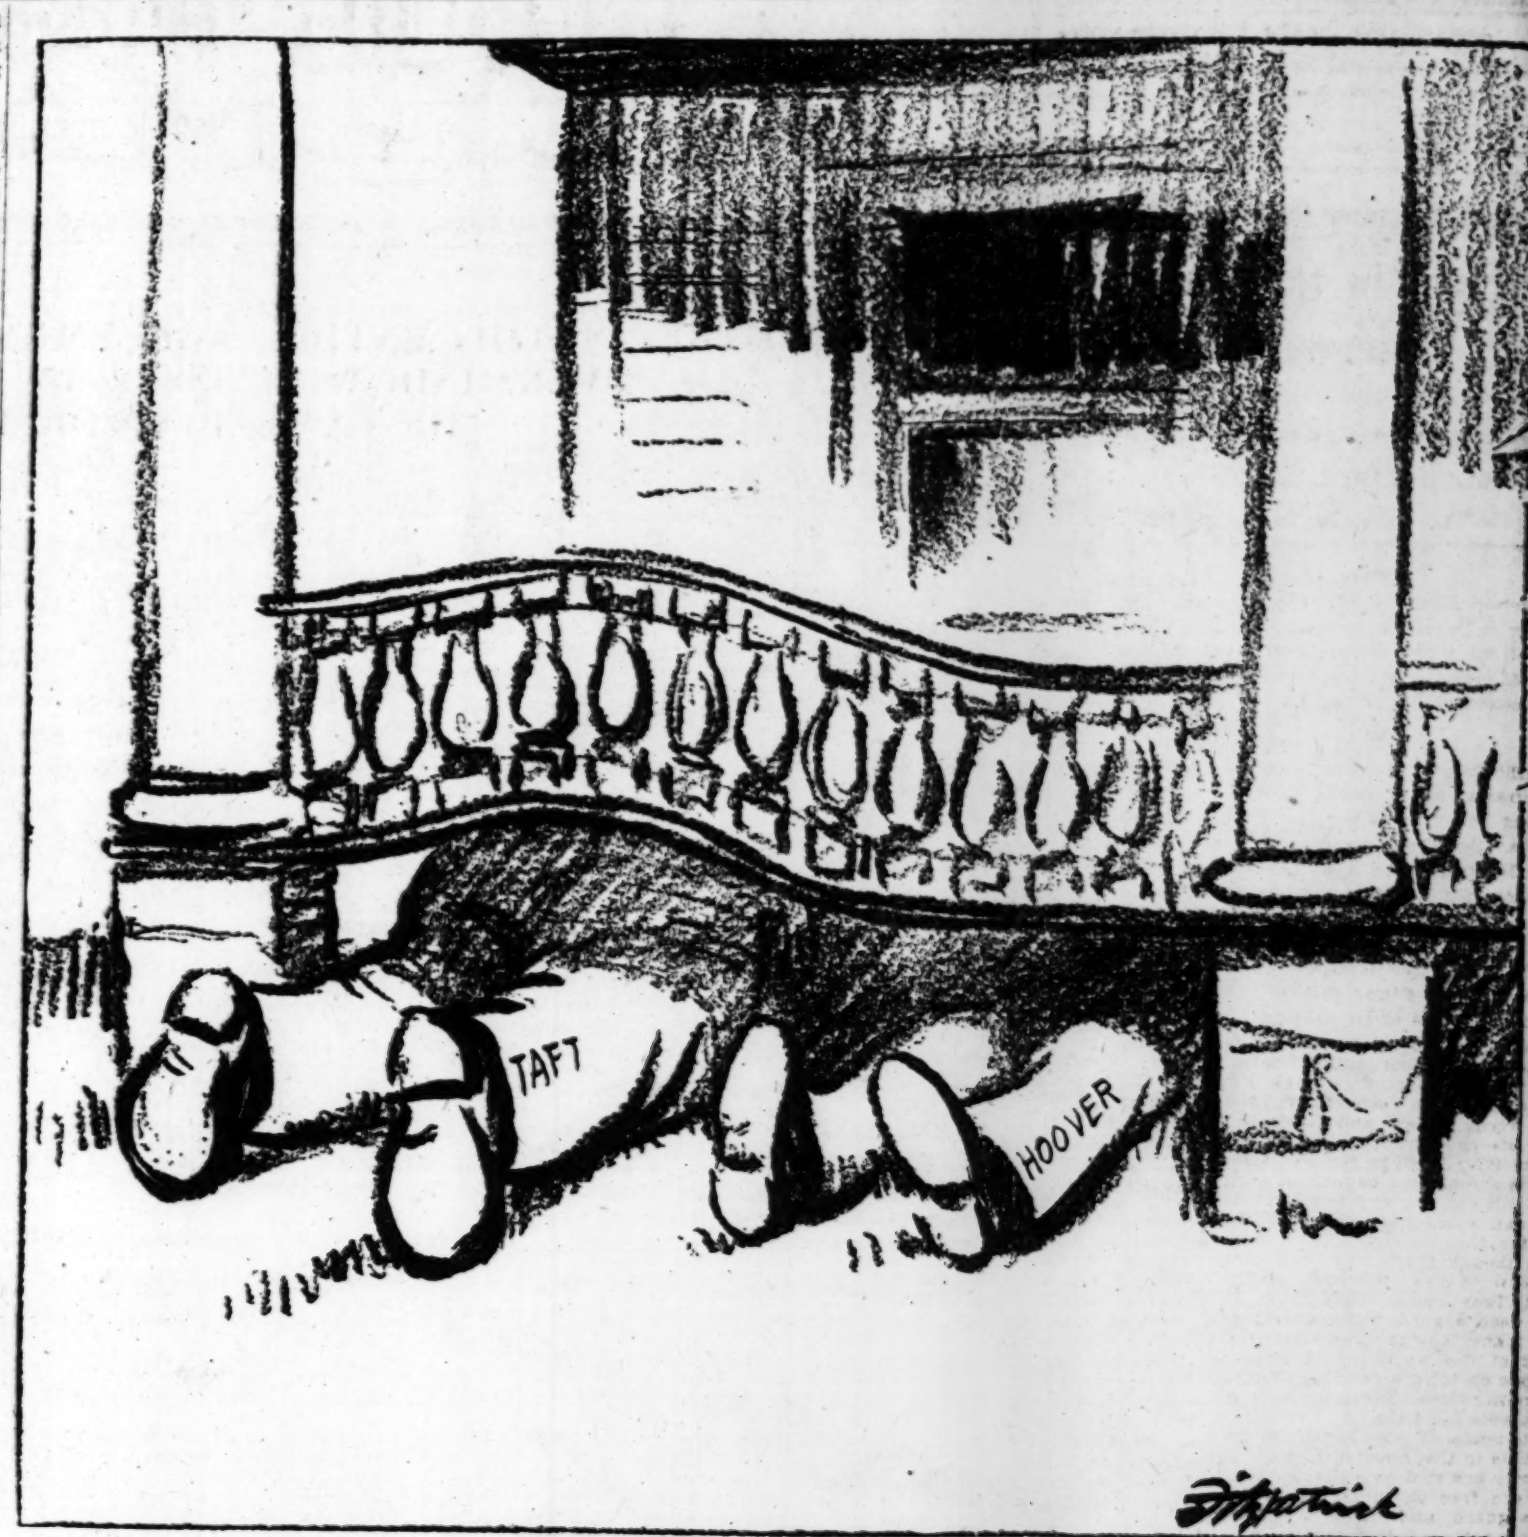

CARD INDEX OF BAIL BONDS.

The total number of professional bondsmen who operate on a scale of importance in St. Louis is now said to be hardly more than seven or eight. If that is true, the task of the Chamber of Commerce in seeking the suppression of evils due to these men ought to be comparatively easy. The possession of property sufficient to qualify as sureties on one or two bonds is made by them a basis for signing perhaps a dozen or more bail bonds. But for this circumstance their business would be unprofitable. In banking circles their practice would be called a "kitchen" of assets. On the stock exchange it would be called pyramiding. Prosecutions for perjury and prompt proceedings for collecting forfeited bonds would, of course, lessen the evils, but official energy to such an extent, though often promised, is hardly to be hoped for.

A card index of bondsmen showing their property qualifications and the number of bonds on which such property is pledged would strike at the source of the abuse. For judicial officers who accept unqualified bondsmen a drastic course is open. Stop the pyramiding and put the straw bondsmen out of business.

GETTING WOODROW WILSON.

When I was inclined to think the people who were getting up the reservations were shooting down Pennsylvania avenue at the White House? Certainly, friends. Everybody has known exactly how I felt about the League of Nations. Everybody knows that I would have ratified the peace treaty as the President brought it from Paris. Everybody knows that I sincerely want peace in the world to end forever and that I think this is the way to end it. All right, you say, why don't you renounce Senator Harding, who says he is for scrapping the league, and come out for Gov. Cox, who is for going into it? Aye, there is the rub! Why don't I do that? I wish I knew. If I had that much courage I would be the happiest man alive. If you will recall, I was President four years. I was probably the best-natured President we ever had; but Great Caesar, I didn't have any backbone! Imagine a President not having any backbone! That was my fix then, and it is my fix now! I am the biggest jellyfish in the history of American politics. I was the creature of Mr. Roosevelt; but unlike Minerva, who sprang full-armed from the brain of Jove, I absorbed none of his courage. JUST A MINUTE

SPEECH BY MR. TAFT.

FRIENDS: I want your ears for a minute, but I want most of what I say to pass into one ear and out of the other. You know the fix I have been in ever since this fight over the League of Nations started. I have been for something of the kind for years, and was chairman of the old League to Enforce Peace.

Very well. We had our chance to get what we wanted after the world war. It was the first time in history there had ever been such a chance, though men as good as ourselves had been eagerly watching for it through centuries. Anyway, we got our league after the world war. I said something to do with getting it. Mr. Root did. Mr. Hughes did. The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations did, and the House Committee on Foreign Affairs did. So it was not altogether Mr. Wilson's league. It was everybody's league—something we needed—something we must have—something, finally, thank God, we were able to get.

Now, what is the situation? What are you to do? You can't vote against the League of Nations. If you did you would be the only people in the world to vote against it, and the League I did not detach itself from America in 500 years. I wish I were in your place. I wish I had never been made President of the United States by the Republican party. If I were free, without any such terrible obligation as is mine, I would come out for Gov. Cox. I have I not said as it is that the people who are trying to kill the league are such as I would not trust over night? Have I not said that article 10 is the embodiment of the principle for which we fought and went to war to maintain? Have I not pointed out to Senator Harding that there is nothing in the association of nations which he says he would organize, since the world already has a league with 43 countries in it and would laugh at our suggestion to do away with that and organize something else? Did I not say in a speech in New York City when the fight for the Lodge reservations began that I was inclined to think the people who were getting up the reservations were shooting down Pennsylvania avenue at the White House?

Certainly, friends. Everybody has known exactly how I felt about the League of Nations. Everybody knows that I would have ratified the peace treaty as the President brought it from Paris. Everybody knows that I sincerely want peace in the world to end forever and that I think this is the way to end it. All right, you say, why don't you renounce Senator Harding, who says he is for scrapping the league, and come out for Gov. Cox, who is for going into it? Aye, there is the rub! Why don't I do that? I wish I knew. If I had that much courage I would be the happiest man alive. If you will recall, I was President four years. I was probably the best-natured President we ever had; but Great Caesar, I didn't have any backbone! Imagine a President not having any backbone! That was my fix then, and it is my fix now! I am the biggest jellyfish in the history of American politics. I was the creature of Mr. Roosevelt; but unlike Minerva, who sprang full-armed from the brain of Jove, I absorbed none of his courage. He got so mad at me for letting everybody impose upon me while I was in the White House that he ran against me himself when he got back from Africa and thus elected Mr. Wilson.

So you see how it is. No greater crisis ever confronted us, and I am a failure in it. I am plugging along for Senator Harding, who is hand in glove with Senators Borah and Johnson. He won't take us into the League of Nations, and if he tried to do it he could not overcome the bitter-enders in his own party. Thinking of the encouragement to their cause if Harding is elected after saying he has turned his back on the league covenant!

Isn't this awful? I wish someone would stick a fence rail down my back and stiffen me up. I would give my shrinking soul to stand up just once as a big, two-fisted American citizen daring to be for the right despite every consequence to myself. That is all, friends. I can hardly look you in the face, but I want you to look me in the face and see there some trace of the anguish that is mine. It is no fun to be what an old Indiana statesman once called Mr. McKinley, a chocolate éclair; and I hope none of you ever is one. I must go now. I must go forth saying what I do not feel. As Shakespeare said, all the world is a stage and each of us plays a part. Mine is an ignoble part. Be glad you weren't cast for it.

Senator Johnson says that neither Gov. Cox nor Mr. Roosevelt has been able to make any impression upon the West in the face of Senator Harding's stand on the League of Nations, which must be taken as an intimation that the West knows what Senator Harding's position on the League of Nations is. What is it?

Lillian Russell has investigated the covenant of the League of Nations, and she finds no mention in it either of God or Congress. Either omission is in her opinion fatal. Tut-tut, Lillian! They are never mentioned together in anything.

Promotion in the Service.

Inasmuch as rats did much damage to his papers, Mr. Roosevelt has been able to make the official documents in one of the more remote Indian towns, obtained permission to keep two cats, the larger of which was to receive some better rations than the other. A few weeks later the head office at Delhi received this dispatch: "I have the honor to inform you that what senior cat is absent without leave. What shall I do?" To this problem the office vouchsafed no reply. After waiting a few days the Hindu sent off a proposal: "In reabsentee cat. I propose to promote the junior cat, and in the meantime to take into Government service a probationer cat on full rations."—Houston Post.

"So you were in the service," ejaculated the prospective father-in-law at the bashful aspirant to his daughter's hand. "Carry any scars?" "No, sir," replied the would-be bridegroom, but I've got a deck of cigarettes if you'd like to try one."—American Legion Weekly.

THE SERPENT.

WE do not care to join the league. Why should we when we are so strong? We sit upon our mountain top And calmly view a world of wrong.

So weak and sick from loss of blood, So poor and cold; so hungry, too! We watch it struggle as it can, But will not try to help it through.

A loathsome thing is hatching there, A serpent warming to its might, Brooded by war and discontent; A creature we must face and fight.

Thriving on pestilence and death, Sucking its strength from disaster, Come! Crush the thing while yet we may, Or we shall see what we shall see.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

A CURB ON PUBLIC INTELLIGENCE.

From the Editor and Publisher.
EXPULSION of the two newspaper correspondents, Paul Hanna and Laurence Todd, from the press conferences of the State Department is not to be dismissed as a pardonable rebuke to radicalism. The expelled correspondents are confessed radicals, it is true, but they also are representatives of the press in good journalistic standing. Their expulsion is an affront to the press as a whole, rather than a punishment of radicalism in particular. Hanna and Todd, whatever their political connections or sociological leanings, were acting within the legitimate lines of Washington newspaper correspondence, and it was for such newspaper action they were expelled. The same result might happen to any other correspondent of courage, honesty and independence.

It might be difficult for the common mind to comprehend how Secretary Colby comes to regard the State Department "hand-out" of official information to newspaper correspondents as a matter of his own personal hospitality, had not the common mind already begun to comprehend that Secretary Colby seems disposed to treat State Department affairs as his private concern, just as Mr. Burleson has long seemed to regard the Post-office Department as his personal property.

The incident brings to the forefront a much-debated question among the more alert Washington correspondents on the one side and some public officials on the other.

To what extent are newspaper men entitled to their position as quasi-public servants to know what the Government is doing, so they can tell the truth to the people of the country?

The United States public is dependent almost wholly upon the daily conferences of Secretary Colby with newspaper correspondents for their knowledge of our relations with other countries. Hanna and Todd were not the first correspondents to say that the public learns just about what the officials want them to—no more and no less. "For several months past," suggests the Baltimore Sun, "various correspondents at intervals are said to have complained in person to Mr. Colby concerning the system employed." Others have put complaints into print, which merit consideration by the newspaper profession if not by public officials.

The conversations with Japan furnish a timely incident in point. The American people are permitted to know nothing of what is going on except in a most general way. They are told from Tokyo that negotiations have reached a most serious stage, but nothing is to be learned at the State Department. The bulk of the news from all correspondent permitted to quote any responsible person in the State Department without express authority. The attitude of the State Department "becomes known" or is "indicated" without direct statement having been made on the subject involved. The bulk of the news from all of the departments comes in the form of prepared "hand-outs"—written statements prepared by heads of bureaus or departments, informing the public of something the officials want known and want stated in exactly their own way but not on their authority. In most instances it is impossible to learn more than the prepared statement contains. There is practically a universal rule that subordinates must not talk.

Such system of dissemination of public information is wholly out of harmony with the spirit and the needs of a self-governing people. "Open covenants openly arrived at" is an American doctrine better suited to old-time practices than to present empty precept.

There can be no true and safe self-government without popular knowledge of public affairs.

Debs Eager to Be Free, to Fight in the Open, Without Violence, for His Principles

Predicts Forward-Looking Movement After Election; Hard Task, Not to Beat Capitalism, but to Get Labor Out of Fog.

By Norman Hapgood.

Norman Hapgood, editor, author and former United States Minister to Denmark, has just interviewed Eugene V. Debs in the Atlanta penitentiary, where the socialist candidate for the presidency is "Prisoner No. 9853." The Post-Dispatch printed the first installment of the interview yesterday. The second follows:

(Copyright, 1920.)

ATLANTA, Oct. 14.

DEBS is most eager to be at liberty. In moments of contempt for government, or of feeling for the wrongs done to many simple men, he may say he would rather stay in until all come out—rather die there if need be. But the other impulse conquers. He wants to be in, the great fight. He longs to be free to deliver the truth, his truth, to thousands of his fellow-men, and face to face. He is not a man who belongs apart, in a study or in a cell. He loves men, masses of men, and wants to look into their upturned faces and pour out what is in his soul.

He is their candidate for the presidency, and the United States Government, on the flimsy pretext of an outworn war-power, shuts him in a prison on the eve of an election.

Does it know what it is doing for the class war in this country? Does it know what it is doing to make common men laugh scornfully when such words as law and justice and order are spoken?

What Men Mean to Support Debs.
Time and again I have been asked this summer and autumn when men and women I know well have told me they intended to vote for Debs, though they had no belief whatsoever in the theories of Karl Marx. They opined that Marx had been dead a good while and that a good many things had happened, and that the world would have to struggle on toward fairness by many different routes—but they were going to vote for Debs.

This tendency may not show on a big scale in this election because the majority are still drugged, but those who are free to think are the advance guard, and there is a deluge coming soon. I have reasons that seem to me good for voting with the one of the two big parties that prefer to have win but even so I feel like a cowardly conservative as I li-tated to the stream of generous feeling and tolerant thought that flowed from the rich personality of the imprisoned candidate of a party that will sweep half the countries of Europe in the first elections that are held on real issues.

Revival After Election.
Debs talked about a revival of a forward movement after this election is behind us. He thinks it is coming strong and soon, and coming through a broader party than labor and socialism have been able to organize before. I asked him if it would be in general like the British Labor party, and he was inclined to think it might be. He was not sure, however, that it would be a party of radical tendencies could co-operate as much here with the labor elements as they do in England, and he rather thought the lack of cohesion in the Committee of 48 at Chicago was an illustration of this disculty.

We talked of men like Webb, Angell, Brailsford and Wedgwood, who led the Labor party in England, and Debs said the most en-

The High Contracting Parties:
In order to promote co-opera-peace and security by the acceptance of obligations not to recourse to war, by the prescription of open, just and honest relations between nations, by the firm establishment of the understandings of international law as the actual rule of conduct among Governments, and by the maintenance of justice and a scrupulous respect for all treaty

League of Nations.

ARTICLE 1.
The original members of the League of Nations shall be those of the signatories which are named in the annex to this covenant and also such of those other states named in the annex as shall accede without reservation to this covenant. Such accession shall be effected by a declaration deposited with the secretary within two months of the coming into force of the covenant. Notice thereof shall be sent to all other members of the league.

Any fully self-governing state, dominion or colony not named in the annex may become a member of the league if its admission sincere intention to observe its international obligations, and may be prescribed by the league in regard to its military, naval and air forces and armaments.

Any member of the league may, after two years' notice of its intention so to do, with-such other place as may be decided upon.

ARTICLE 4.
The council shall consist of representatives of the principal allied and Associated Powers, together with representatives of four other members of the league. These four members of the league shall be selected by the assembly from time to time in its discretion. Until the appointment of the representatives of the four members of the league is completed, the assembly, representatives of Belgium, Brazil, Spain and Greece shall be members of the council.

With the approval of the majority of the assembly, the council may name additional members of the league whose representatives shall always be members of the council; the council with like approval may increase the number of members of the league to be selected by the assembly for representation on the council.

ARTICLE 5.
The council shall meet from time to time as occasion may require, and at least once a year, at the seat of the league,

ARTICLE 6.
The council shall take such action as may be necessary for the maintenance of international peace and security, and for the enforcement of common action of international obligations.

shall formulate plans for such be made public giving such facts and explanations regarding the dispute and the terms of settlement thereof as the council may deem appropriate.

ARTICLE 16.

THRONGS OF EMIGRANTS ON WAY TO U.S.; NO SORTING OUT UNTIL THEY ARRIVE

All Classes in Human Tide Rolling Toward America—Agents Charge Large Sums for Obtaining Passports.

Special Cable, Copyright, 1920, by the Chicago Daily News.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Exploitation of helpless emigrants is taking on large proportions throughout Europe. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that half the population of Central and Eastern Europe would transfer itself immediately to the United States if it could. In old days emigration was stimulated by wealthy agents who visited the country districts and the crowded quarters of the towns. This is no longer necessary. On the other hand, there is beginning to be a keen rivalry between French and British lines for this profitable emigrant traffic, which, it has been proved, formed before the war the sole source of profit of the two great German lines.

The steamship companies do not have to advertise. Nearly everybody in Central and Eastern Europe knows somebody who has relatives in America. People receive letters describing the prosperity there; they see food and money pouring in from across the Atlantic and their imaginations promptly depict the United States as a sort of promised land where everyone is rich and happy.
Does not the photograph accompanying the letter show Cousin Heinie with his beard shaved off and wearing a white collar and necktie? Just like a banker or cabinet minister?
The American consulates in every capital in this part of the world, as this correspondent has had occasion to observe in the course of a recent trip, are literally besieged by would-be emigrants.

Refuge to Be Driven Away.

These people camp in the neighboring streets and alleys for days at a time, refusing to be driven away. The air reeks with the odor of their misery. No American con-sulate has a force sufficient to endeavor to deal with a quarter of the actual number of applicants for visas.

Practically all Germans, Austrians, Hungarians, Croatians, Slovenes, Bulgarians and Transylvanians, Rumanians are ineligible for visas at this time, nevertheless the American consulates as far as they exist in these countries are constantly surrounded by hopeful applicants who when told that it is impossible to give them visas simply refuse to go away.

Some countries are encouraging the emigration of the racial minorities of whom they wish to be rid. This is the case notably in Poland, where the Jews and the Poles are being driven out. In Rumania, where the Jews of Bessarabia are given special "Emigration" passports without taking the responsibility of declaring the reasons for their departure, the country is being depopulated. In the Balkans, where the Serbs are being driven out, the country is being depopulated.

Corruption Widespread.

Their exploitation begins in their home towns when they first apply for traveling permits. Corruption is widespread throughout Central and Eastern Europe at the present time.
Indeed, it furnishes almost the only means of getting anything done.
There is someone in every town, who if the applicant will pay him a sufficiently large sum, will guarantee to get him a passport. Then the applicant must travel to the capital to get an American visa. Here, owing to the crowded condition of the consulates, it may be weeks before this visa can be obtained. In the meantime the applicant has to live somewhere. Every city in the world apparently is overcrowded just now with ignorant, inexperienced persons who are always robbed in the big cities, and who are always being taken advantage of by the money changers.

Charitable Agencies Help.

Certain charitable agencies are now attempting to help them to some extent. One is the Jewish Emigration Aid Society and another is the Young Men's Christian Association, which is establishing bus stations for emigrants. These agencies point out such places as the frontiers and ports.

One cannot help being struck by the apparent lack of practical methods in sorting out the individuals to whom American visas are given or refused. It seems to be largely a question of the emigrant engaging the services of a clever agent in his own national capital. Most of the emigrants are of the lowest and most ignorant class of society and many exhausted by their travels are unable to answer even the simplest questions put to them in their own language. Those who succeed in being therefore those who come accompanied by clever interpreters who can answer the Consul's questions intelligently and fill out the necessary formalities.

With the best possible will it is practical impossibility for American Consuls to verify the claims of the applicants or to ascertain, for example, whether or not they are anarchists or Bolsheviks. Moreover, the writer is informed that a Consul is not really obliged to pass on an applicant's qualifications, but only to warn him that if he falls in with these qualifications he will be refused entry when he arrives in America.

There is, therefore, no genuine investigation before the emigrant reaches New York. The question naturally arises whether there is one there or whether on the strength of the American visa obtained in Europe the emigrant is allowed to enter after a merely formal interrogation.

vitation to do so were formally tendered.

Economy Movement in Sweden. CHRISTIANIA, Oct. 14.—In order to improve the international value of the Swedish currency an economy movement has been inaugurated here. A league was formed, whose members, including the King and Queen, have agreed for one year to use less imported goods and cease unnecessary traveling.

TEXT OF THE COVENANT OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Article 18. Every treaty or international engagement entered into hereafter by any member of the league shall be forthwith registered with the secretariat and shall as soon as possible be published by it. No such treaty or international engagement shall be binding until so registered.

Article 19. The assembly may from time to time advise the reconsideration by members of the league of treaties which have become inapplicable and the consideration of international conditions whose continuance might endanger the peace of the world.

Article 20. The members of the league severally agree that this covenant is accepted as abrogating all obligations or understandings in force which are inconsistent with the terms thereof. And solemnly undertake that they will not hereafter enter into any engagements inconsistent with the terms thereof.

Article 21. Nothing in this covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace.

To those colonies and territories which as a consequence of the late war have ceased to be under the sovereignty of the states which formerly governed them and which are inhabited by people not yet able to stand by themselves under the strenuous conditions of the modern world, there should be applied the principle that the well-being and development of such peoples form a sacred trust of civilization and that securities for the performance of this trust should be embodied in this covenant.

The best method of giving practical effect to this principle is that the tutelage of such peoples should be entrusted to advanced nations who by reason of their resources, their experience or their geographical position can best undertake this responsibility, and who are willing to accept it, and that this tutelage should be exercised by them as mandates on behalf of the league.

The character of the mandate must differ according to the stage of the development of the people, the geographical situation of the territory, its economic conditions and other similar circumstances.

Certain communities formerly belonging to the Turkish Empire have reached a stage of development where their existence as independent nations can be provisionally recognized subject to the rendering of administrative advice and assistance by a mandatory until such time as they are able to stand alone. The wishes of these communities must be a principal consideration in the selection of the mandatory.

Other peoples, especially those of Central Africa, are at such a stage that the mandatory must be responsible for the administration of the territory under conditions which will guarantee freedom of conscience and religion, subject only to the maintenance of public order and morals, the prohibition of abuses such as the slave trade, the arms traffic and the liquor traffic, and the prevention of

Article 22. The members of the league severally agree that this covenant is accepted as abrogating all obligations or understandings in force which are inconsistent with the terms thereof. And solemnly undertake that they will not hereafter enter into any engagements inconsistent with the terms thereof.

How You Can Remove Every Trace of Hair

(Toll-Free Talk)
A stiff paste made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on a hairy surface about 5 minutes will, when removed, take every trace of hair with it. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining delatone. No harm can result from this treatment, but be sure it is delatone you get and you will not be disappointed. TEXT OF THE COVENANT OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS the establishment of fortifications or military and naval bases and of military training of the natives for other than police purposes and defense of territory, and will also secure equal opportunities for the trade and commerce of other members of the league.

There are territories, such as Southwest Africa and certain of the South Pacific Islands, which, owing to the sparseness of their population, or their small size, or their remoteness from the centers of civilization, or their geographical contiguity to the territory of the mandatory, and other circumstances, can be best administered under the laws of the mandatory as integral portions of its territory, subject to the safeguards above mentioned in the interests of the indigenous population.

In every case of mandate, the mandatory shall render to the council an annual report in reference to the territory committed to its charge.

The degree of authority, control, or administration to be exercised by the mandatory shall, if not previously agreed upon by the members of the league, be explicitly defined in each case by the council.

A permanent commission shall be constituted to receive and examine the annual reports of the mandatories and to advise the council on all matters relating to the observance of the mandates.

ARTICLE 23.

Subject to and in accordance with the provisions of international conventions existing or hereafter to be agreed upon, the members of the league:

(a) Will endeavor to secure and maintain fair and humane conditions of labor for men, women and children, both in their countries and in all countries to which their commercial and industrial relations extend, and for that purpose will establish and maintain the necessary international organizations.

(b) Undertake to secure just treatment of the native inhabitants of territories under their control.

(c) Will trust the league with the general supervision over the execution of agreements with regard to the traffic in women and children, and the traffic in opium and other dangerous drugs.

(d) Will trust the league with the general supervision of the trade in arms and ammunition with the countries in which the control of this traffic is necessary in the common interest.

(e) Will make provision to secure and maintain freedom of communications and of transit, and equitable treatment for the commerce of all members of the league. In this connection, the special necessities of the regions devastated during the war of 1914-1918 shall be borne in mind.

(f) Will endeavor to take steps in matters of international concern for the prevention and control of disease.

ARTICLE 24.

There shall be placed under the direction of the league all international bureaus already established by general treaties, if the parties to such treaties consent. All such international bureaus and all commissions for the regulation of matters of international interest hereafter constituted shall be placed under the direction of the league.

In all matters of international interest which are regulated by general conventions but which are not placed under the control of international bureaus or commissions, the secretariat of the league shall, subject to the consent to the council and if desired by the parties, collect and distribute all relevant information and shall render any other assistance which may be necessary or desirable.

The council may include as part of the expenses of the secretariat the expenses of any bureau or commission which is placed under the direction of the league.

ARTICLE 25.

The members of the league agree to encourage and promote the establishment and co-operation of duly authorized voluntary national Red Cross organizations having as purposes the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world.

ARTICLE 26.

Amendments to this covenant will take effect when ratified by the members of the league whose representatives compose the council and by a majority of the members of the league whose representatives compose the assembly.

No such amendment shall bind any member of the league which signifies its dissent therefrom, but in that case it shall cease to be a member of the league.

FINANCIAL CRISIS IN JAVA

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—General financial depression and demoralization of markets in Java to such an extent that failures are expected, was reported to the Department of Commerce today by Trade Commissioner Fowler at Batavia. The Commissioner said exporters should exercise caution in negotiating documentary drafts based upon shipment of expensive luxuries and motor cars unless credit had been opened in Java to cover the transactions.

Fat That Shows Soon Disappears

Prominent fat that comes and stays where it is not needed is a burden; a hindrance to activity, and a curb upon pleasure. Many forms of advice to reduce weight have been advanced, such as dieting, hard work, excessive exercise, etc., all of which are either unpleasant or dangerous.

The latest, more modern and pleasant way to take off burdensome fat, is to take, after each meal and at bedtime, a Marmola tablet. These little tablets are as effective and harmless as the famous Marmola Prescription from which they take their name.

To get rid of fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week, simply take one of these little tablets after each meal and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or dishiness will remain to show where the fat came off.

They are for sale by all druggists at 15¢ for a good size box. If you prefer to have them come to you direct by mail, prepaid, in plain sealed cover, send amount to the Marmola Co., 67 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich., and bid goodbye to dining, exercise and diet. Be yourself, slim, trim and attractive.

SAYS REPUBLICANS "CAN STEAL FASTER"

Christenson Declares They Are More Experienced Than Democrats, and More Wasteful.

By the Associated Press.

CLINTON, Ia., Oct. 14.—"If I am elected President I am going to send to Leavenworth every scoundrel who made excess profits off you boys during the war," Pearly Parker Christenson, Farmer-Labor presidential candidate, told an audience in the Coliseum here yesterday afternoon.

"They say that I am stirring up strife between classes," he continued. "I am, but there are only two classes, skinned and skinner, and we're poor old skinner."

"If you think Cox is a bit better than Harding, you are crazy. They are 'twiddle dee, twiddle dum.' It does not make a bit of difference which is elected, the League of Nations will be adopted because it is nothing more or less than an understanding between nations to control money and business, and was put over at the behest of the international banking soviet. It means slavery for the people instead of freedom."

Christenson predicted that while the Farmer-Labor party may not win this year, it will eventually and that then the workers will control railways, banks and industry and will claim a larger share of the profits themselves besides reducing costs to the consumers. He was cheered when he referred to Attorney-General Palmer as "Pontius"

Palmer and declared that the latter regarded Abraham Lincoln as a traitor and the Declaration of Independence as seditious.

Cheers also greeted his assertion that he would have Germany, Austria, Russia, Ireland and India, "another of England's exploited nationalities, at the peace table."

President Wilson, he declared, has accepted the dictation of the "International Bankers' Soviet," lost his 14 points in the shuffle, and came home in disgrace.

The courts, he declared, are out of touch with humanity, and said they should be revised, because they ignore Lincoln's declaration that when property and human rights conflict, property rights must give way. Both old parties are alike, he said, "only I think from long experience that the Republicans can steal more and faster than the Democrats, but cannot spend more or waste more."

"X" Secretaries to Meet Here. The national convention of the City General Secretaries' Association of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in St. Louis Nov. 5-7, according to an announcement made yesterday by H. P. Lansdale of Rochester, N. Y. The conference was brought to this city through the efforts of Philemon Davis, general secretary of the St. Louis Y. M. C. A.

ST. LOUIS U. REGISTRAR SAYS 13 VOTERS ARE AT SCHOOL

Statement Made Following Report Election Canvassers Could Not Find Registrants.

William F. Bolte and William Polak, clerks in the office of the Board of Election Commissioners, while checking registration lists for the purpose of discovering possible fraudulent registration, reported that 13 persons listed in the canvass book as from St. Louis University were not known at that institution. Publication of this fact caused the Rev. Father L. J. Kinney, who is registrar of the university and whose name was among the 13, to call the Post-Dispatch by telephone and state that the entire 13 reported as not at the university were at the university. Bolte and Polak said they interviewed an elderly priest at the university, reading the names of those registered from the university to him. They said the names of the 13 in question were of persons the priest said he did not know.

Several of the names on the canvass book were misspelled, which also contributes to failure of identification. This caused Chairman Arnold of the board to say today that misspellings and other errors tend to defeat the purposes of the canvass.

LORD CECIL DENOUNCES BRITISH IRISH POLICY

Unionist Leader Calls for Investigation of Government's Part in Reprisals.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 14.—Denunciation of the Government's Irish policy by the Liberal forces of the country represented by the recent statements of Viscount Grey, former Premier, Asquith, and Viscount Morley, seems likely to grow into a formidable movement. The latest recruit is Lord Robert Cecil, one of the most respected of the Unionist leaders, who has joined Viscount Grey in a letter to the press calling for an investigation by a constitutional tribunal as to whether the Government is responsible for the reprisals.

The letter begins by referring to Premier Lloyd George's Carnarvon speech as assuming that the reprisals have been confined to the shooting by police of those reasonably suspected of an intention to attack them or who had been incontrovertibly guilty of the murder of their fellow-citizens. It proceeds:

"That is a very incomplete account of the reprisals as reported in the press. It is alleged on apparently overwhelming evidence that the armed forces of the Crown have for months past systematically burned or destroyed buildings and other property in towns, villages and farms in Ireland; that they have fired rifles and thrown bombs at random, killing and wounding the inhabitants, and driven women and children of all ages and in all conditions of health in terror to the fields and mountains."

"These acts undoubtedly were committed in revenge for horrible outrages perpetrated in the districts concerned, but they have not been confined to the individuals who have been guilty of such outrages. On the contrary, the victims have included Protestants and Unionists who used to be the bitter opponents of the Sinn Fein."

"It is further alleged that the policy which produced these results was sanctioned by the Ministers of the Crown, including the Prime Minister himself. These are grave charges and require full, open and immediate investigation by a constitutional tribunal."

One Former Soldier of Evanston (Ill.) Receives Letter Asking Him Who the Man Is in His Grave.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The parents of Emil Reding and Herschel McMahon, Evanston youths who served in France, have twice been notified of their sons' deaths, and sympathetic letters have been received in both instances from President Wilson and Governor Lowden. As a matter of fact both young men have returned and are at home, and have notified the War Department to that effect.

Reding today said he had received a letter from the War Department asking him who the man in his grave is, if he is not in it himself.

2 OF 13 UNDER DEATH SENTENCE, ARE HANGED

Another Execution in Chicago Tomorrow; Reprieves for 10 Other Prisoners.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Frank Campione, convicted of implication in the robbery and murder of a local saloonkeeper, and James H. Reese, negro, who confessed having killed his wife with a hatchet, were hanged early today.

While Campione wept hysterically and bemoaned his fate through the hours of the early morning "death watch," Reese showed his calmness by taking several half hour naps.

Reese pleaded with Campione to accept religious consolation, but the latter refused to be comforted. Campione has feigned blindness since his conviction, although physicians declared his eyes normal. He complained that he could not see his wife and baby when they paid a last visit to him yesterday, but as the hour of execution drew nearer he performed several skillful card tricks for the jailers, keeping his eyes apparently closed.

"I want my freedom," Campione shouted when Night Jailor Kordeck asked what he wanted for breakfast. "Faith will sustain me," Reese replied to the same question.

Reprieves or stays of execution for all but three of the 13 men who had been sentenced to hang here today or tomorrow, have been granted by the State Pardon Board. Frank Zagar is under sentence to hang tomorrow.

Chief of Police Garrity, in discussing the reprieves for 10 of the convicted men, issued the following statement:

"The fact that all but three of 13 murderers have slipped their necks from the noose is an invitation to the gunmen to go back to their profession."

"In my opinion the big reduction in murders this year, recently made the subject of a report by the Chicago Crime Commission, is in part at least the result of the 13 hanging sentences which serve as warnings to the gunmen."

"When the gunmen, who are watching these cases carefully, note the final result of the sentences they may be expected to smile at the law and begin murdering again."

FIVE YEARS FOR THEFT FROM STORE OF $4350 IN JEWELRY

Man Arrested at Bellingham, Wash., Convicted of Taking Diamonds From Drosten Store.

Robert Winn, alias Harry Andrews, 28 years old, a notorious "penny-wheeler," or diamond thief, was convicted yesterday afternoon in the Circuit Court of stealing 34 diamonds valued at $4050 and a pair of earrings valued at $300 from the F. W. Drosten Jewelry Co., Ninth and Olive streets, on Feb. 28, and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

Winn called at the store on that date and asked to be shown some diamonds. Immediately after he left Edwin W. Bornmueller, a salesman, discovered the loss. He identified a Bertillon photograph of Winn, who was arrested in Bellingham, Wash., and brought back. The only direct testimony against him was that of Bornmueller, who said that he noticed a suspicious move, but he was identified by Bornmueller and Miss Hazel Smith as the man who examined the diamonds just before the loss was discovered and on that testimony and evidence that he was a habitual criminal the jury found him guilty.

$84,784 PERSONAL ESTATE OF POWHATAN H. CLARKE

Inventory Also Shows He Was Large Owner of Real Estate in St. Louis and New York.

An inventory of the estate of Powhatan, Hughes Clarke, 27 years old, of the Buckingham Hotel, who died Aug. 20 at Saranac Lake, N. Y., was filed today in Probate Court. The personal property, chiefly stocks and bonds, was listed at $84,784.84. Sixty-five thousand dollars of Liberty bonds were pledged for a loan of $48,000, and $24,550 of stocks for a loan of $14,568 at the State National Bank.

The inventory shows 21 parcels of real estate in St. Louis and 45 acres of land in St. Louis County; a one-fourth interest in 43 lots in Helena, Mont., and improved real estate in New York City with a monthly rental return of $240. The St. Louis improved real estate yields a monthly rental of $567.

Clarke inherited the property from

Miss Mary E. Boyce, a member of the Mullanphy family, and he left no will, according to his mother, Mrs. Elsie Clement Clarke of the Buckingham Hotel, who took out letters of administration as the sole heir.

BRITISH CHURCH 328 YEARS OLD

Mayflower Tercentenary to Be Celebrated in Ancient Structure.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—What is claimed to be the oldest Congregational church in the British Empire is situated in the New Kent road here and bears a notice board with the inscription, "Pilgrim Church, formed 1592; memorial to the Pilgrim Fathers."

Although situated in one of the busiest streets in South London, little seems to be known of its existence. The Rev. W. Elliott Griffiths of Ithaca, N. Y., will be one of the speakers at a meeting to be held in the church to celebrate the Mayflower tercentenary.

Billikens Depart Tonight to Meet Detroit Saturday

Rademacher to Take Squad of 25 Men for Game With Powerful Michigan Team.

THREE REGULARS INJURED

Webb, Dolan and Amerel on Hospital List as Result of Tiger Battle.

Coch Charles Rademacher and 25 St. Louis University football players will depart tonight for Detroit, where they meet the strong University of Detroit eleven, Saturday.

It will be a crippled Billiken line-up that takes the field against the Michigan team, three of the regulars not yet having recovered from the battering that they received from the Missouri Tigers, last week. Lewis Webb will give way to Drace at halfback, while Dolan and Amerel will have substitutes on the line. Several other "Billies" are nursing minor hurts, but it will be necessary for them to play despite these.

Scrimmage has been held every afternoon since the Missouri disaster, as Rademacher is determined to make a comeback this season and accomplish something during the remainder of the schedule. Line prospects looked brighter Monday when "Red" Godfrey, Bill Murphy and Deers reported for practice. These are three veteran linemen who couldn't stand the stigma of the Tiger trimming and reported despite their earlier resolutions to stay out of the game this year.

Connors Scouted Game.

Back Connors, assistant coach, saw last Saturday's Detroit-Marquette game, and brought back word that this week's opponents are a great eleven, and that Marquette was lucky to score. Detroit is recognized as one of the strongest Jesuit teams in the country and includes on its schedule for this season such teams as Rutgers and Tulsa.

There will be a stiff workout today, ending the heavy preparation for the contest. A signal in Detroit will complete the training tomorrow afternoon.

Pickers Lose Kiebler.

Washington University followers learned yesterday afternoon that Ed Kiebler, of whom so much had been expected at center, turned in his suit and was no longer a member of the Pikeaway squad. Kiebler was playing with a brace on his knee, but the scrimmaging last night for this season again put his leg in bad shape.

This leaves Hafner and Dempsey for the pivotal position, but the former is also in bad shape, having suffered a blow on the head which knocked loose a number of teeth. The freshmen were brought onto the gridiron for offensive scrimmage against the varsity, and employed many of the Grinnell players. The sad part of the tale was that they got away with a lot of the things that they attempted yesterday, and it will be spent at breaking up pass plays, once again attempted by the yearlings.

The Br and Green squad will depart for Grinnell, Ia., tomorrow afternoon; but Coach Rider has not yet announced how many athletes he will take with him. It is now the fifth week of the season and there are only about four men on the squad who are certain of their positions. These are Potthoff, Griesedieck, Berger and Krasna.

UMPIRE SHOWERED WITH CUSHIONS AS BALTIMORE DEFEATS ST. PAUL, 6-5

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 14.—Baltimore's International League champions yesterday defeated St. Paul, title winners in the American Association, 6 to 5, in their minor league championship game. Several demonstrations from the fans in protest against umpire's decisions marred the contest. The Orioles now need only one more victory to give them the minor league title. The next contest will be played here tomorrow.

The Saints used four pitchers, starting their ace, Charlie Hall, succeeded by Williams in the seventh. Griner replaced Williams in the next inning and he was succeeded by Foster after the Orioles had charged Griner with using the empty ball. Bentley went the entire distance for Baltimore, winning his third game in this series.

Umpire Stockdale's decision on Larry of Baltimore at first in the eighth calling him safe met with the disapproval of the fans, who hurled cushions at the umpire, delaying the game several minutes. After the same policeman and Jim Murray an umpire from the field, while late fans showered them with cushions.

Bonnie Dell Is Winner.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 14.—The Ashland stake for 211 trotters, the feature of yesterday's grand circuit program here, was won by Bonnie Dell driven by his amateur owner, Thomas G. Hinds, after four stiff heats in which three different trotters had taken records of 2:08 or better. The first heat went to Bonnie Dell in 2:04; the second went to Tootsie Toss in 2:04; in one of the closest finishes of the meeting and Arion McKinney beat King Watts in a tight finish in 2:05. In the fourth heat, the raceoff of the heat winners, Bonnie Dell managed to out finish Arion McKinney in 2:04.

Fellbauer Team Enters.

The Fellbauer team yesterday sent in their entry for the Middle West Bowling Association tournament to be held in this city starting Nov. 19. Three local fives have now entered the entries being Orange Crush and Medards.

Americans Saw Carpentier in Only One of His 15 Styles of Fighting

English Writer, at Ringside When European Champion Knocked Out Bat Levinsky, Says That Georges Is Unfathomable and Practically Unbeatable.

By Igooe.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—And now the post-mortem! What of Georges and what of Bat? Did the fight bring forth the wonder man in all his purple and spangles? There was one man, who watched that fight Tuesday night in the Jersey City ball park and he chuckled softly to himself when some of the very wisest around the ring threw their hands to the high heavens when they saw Carpentier leave what they believed to be openings as wide as the entrance to Central Park. Tom Webster, the English sports cartoonist of the London Daily Mail, he was, and he chuckled because, as he said, yesterday:

"It amused me when I heard some of my American cousins guffawing over Carpentier's supposedly open lax style when down in my heart I knew they were seeing Carpentier in only one of his 15 styles of fighting.

"The man is unfathomable. I tell you candidly, old man, he is practically unbeatable. He fights no two men alike. He knows instinctively the fighting habits of the man in front of him and no man ever sounded an opponent quicker than Georges Carpentier. I noticed that you mentioned the fact that he fights with his tongue stuck out through his parted lips.

"Beckett Didn't Chop It Off.

"I was one of the few English sportsmen who was allowed to see Carpentier train for Beckett. I had met him in Paris, in fact, I lived at his training quarters while he was preparing for Smith, the man he shipped on his return to the ring after the war. I noticed that tongue and some of my friends advised that Beckett would chop it off entirely with one of his hooks if Georges persisted in letting it protrude.

"But Beckett didn't chop it off. My word for it, old man, Joe didn't cut any part of Carpentier, let alone the vicinity of his tongue. He fought Beckett quite differently than he did with me. For instance, Wells he walked into and let fly with a right that came right off the hip. Beckett he fought as he did Gunboat Smith.

"My fight always depends upon what the other fellow has or hasn't got. He may be a fighter of combined cleverness and hitting power. He must be fought along a certain line. He is usually clever, then all the plans change. I have no set scheme, but I am the first man to build up and to discover the fact if the other fellow has. In short, it all narrows down to this: I fight a boxer and I fight a fighter.

"No man ever punched Levinsky still before," he said. "He was out on the floor, drunk from punches. Dempsey is credited with knocking him out, when, as a matter of fact, it was the ring with Dempsey, but he was still able to go on, as I didn't want to see a sick man fighting against odds. Levinsky was sick when he entered the ring with Dempsey, but he wasn't knocked out, and you can say that I said so. This map will whip Dempsey, and he will do it by beating Jack to the punch.

Morgan Likes Wonder Man.

"No man ever lived who can follow a left lead with the right as quickly as this fellow does. There is no human guard for his right once he makes up his mind to shoot it. He didn't hit Levinsky on the ear, the temple, the cheek or the top of the head. Dempsey did it with his right. Carpentier saw the point of the jaw, aimed for it and landed like a flash of lightning. No man can save himself from his punches and he will go down on his back the moment he tries his faulty punch, a short left inside. He has a bad habit of stepping in and dropping the hook downward. Carpentier is five times faster, and before Dempsey's head has traveled half the intended distance Carpentier's right will be over and down will go Dempsey. I think I know a fighter when I see one, and will follow him to the end of the world. I will go to find it out, but my hat is to him."

And now, our opinion of the wonder man of the world. With all his speed in punching, his fighting brain, his ability to make moves with the craftiness of a chess expert, he won't whip Dempsey. In the first place, and the important one of all, he is outwitted by Dempsey. He entered the ring Tuesday night at 170 pounds. Dempsey will enter the ring at 180. Twenty pounds advantage and 20 pounds of frightful, youth-killing force. Twenty pounds that nothing in the flesh can stand. As to hitting, they do not compare in the least. Carpentier hit Levinsky full and cleanly in the second round, but could not keep him down. Those knockdowns were genuine. If ever a man was beaten down fairly Levinsky was. He was a past master in defense, but Carpentier's lightning blows drove through defense, if there was defense, and drove home harder still when Levinsky was too bewildered to defend.

Levinsky Not a Dempsey.

But Levinsky isn't Dempsey by many a mile. Jack, supreme in his own confidence, didn't even take the trouble to go to the park to see him. All the row was about. As Kearns laughingly explained, Dempsey was probably down on the sidewalk playing tops with the kids when Levinsky was passing. He cares nothing about seeing fights and would rather see an opponent for the first time just as he comes in. He was being laced on. He got his first peek at Willard when Jess got into the ring. It left something for the kid to get a reputation to work on. Dempsey feels that no man has anything on him, and it is up to the other fellow to look out for him, not for him to look out for the other fellow.

To the writer it did seem that Carpentier lost all his punching power after the second round. Of these that is, he fought as a very tired athlete in the third round. True, he came like a cannon ball in the fourth, and fought Levinsky out of the picture in such a furious assault that weakness, if it was present in the Frenchman, did not have time to assert itself.

With all his greatness, our candid opinion is that Carpentier can't overcome the total height of the other fellow and punch that stand between him and the title. It would be Man o' War and Sir Barton all over again.

ST. LOUIS MUNICIPAL GOLFERS TO OPPOSE SPRINGFIELD (MO.) TEAM

Forest Park Golf Club authorities announce that arrangements have been completed for intercity play between municipal teams representing St. Louis and Springfield, Mo. The teams will meet to obtain Chicago and Kansas City teams for the play, but these cities did not accept the invitation.

The local team will be composed of Vincent Nettler, Edward Held, Louis Hamel and Frank Lynch. They will be opposed by Springfield's team, which will consist of W. H. McCarthy, president of the league, yesterday requested the foreman of the grand jury to conduct such an investigation.

Boxer Kabakoff To Fight Bandy, Arusher, Tonight

South Side Mauler Beat Ghetto Ghost With Broken Hand in Last Meeting.

Future City A. C. Bouts Tonight

Main Event—Harry Kabakoff, St. Louis, vs. Eddie Vandever (Kid Bandy), St. Louis, eight rounds, 125 pounds at 8 o'clock.

Small-windup—Pete Macklin, St. Louis, vs. Orby Jolly, St. Louis, eight rounds, 125 pounds.

Preliminary—Happy Howard, St. Louis, vs. Jack Ricks, St. Louis, eight rounds at 11:20.

Curtain raiser—Jack Ricks, St. Louis, vs. Young Frisco, St. Louis, six rounds at 10:00.

When Harry Kabakoff, the Ghetto Ghost, and Eddie Vandever (Kid Bandy), the South Side chauffeur, square off in the Coliseum ring tonight for their eight-round feature bout of the Future City A. C. show, it will be something of a grudge affair. The weight agreement calls for 125 pounds at 8 o'clock this afternoon and both boxers announced themselves as under that figure yesterday.

The meeting tonight will be the second between the pair and the result will be the tale of the expected "grudge" battle. The previous battle between the pair was a close one, South Broadway A. C. a year ago this month, and it will be remembered that the contest put Bandy on the shelf for about seven months with a broken hand.

In that clash, Kabakoff started out in his usual fashion, boxing rings around Bandy for the first three rounds. At the end of the third session, Kabby was winning by a "mile."

Wild Swing Hit Kabby.

And then something happened. Bandy, who in the second round had broken his right paw, and was swinging savagely with his left, trying to hit going and coming, unhooked a wild swing that landed on Kabby's eye. It was a sound belt and took a lot of the fight out of Kabby, who spent the remainder of the evening seeking cover.

LEST WE FORGET.

THE tumult and the shouting dies. The Captains and the Kings depart. Tris Speaker and his chesty guys. Let the Robins' apple cart. Let us not forget, lest we forget.

TOO BAD.

Coveleskie's arm felt dead and his splitter lacked its usual snap. We were wondering how the Robins managed to score those two runs off of him in three games.

OWNER OF MAN O' WAR CONSIDERING OFFER FOR RACE WITH EXTERMINATOR

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Samuel D. Riddle, owner of Man o' War, said today he was considering the offer of the Kentucky Jockey Club for a race between his champion and Willie Sharp Kilmer's 6-year-old Exterminator for a purse of $50,000.

"I am considering the offer," he said, "but as I have not heard from Mr. Kilmer directly I cannot say as yet whether anything will come of the proposition."

SPORT SALAD

A FOOL THERE WAS. A FOOL there was and he made a bet. Even as you and I! But he had no chance as the track was wet. And the horse he bet on is running yet. And consequently he's all upset. (Even as you and I!)

Oh, the toll we lost and the spoil we lost. The work of our head and hand. Belong to the guy who did not know that the track was wet and the horse was slow. And he did not understand.

A fool there was and his dough he spent. (Even as you and I!) To pay the bookies the money went. For they did not leave him a single cent. But a fool must follow his natural bent. (Even as you and I!)

Oh the years we waste and the tears we waste. And the beautiful things we planned. Belong to the guy who lost his jack. And now he wishes he had it back. For he did not understand.

The fool was stripped to his foolish skin. (Even as you and I!) And he sadly thinks of what might have been. For he didn't know that the race was in. And he hadn't a Chinaman's chance to win. (Even as you and I!)

And it isn't the shame and it isn't the blame the Browns, was among those present at the world's series games in Cleveland. Looks like first division.

GOING UP.

Lillian Russell is skipping the country for Harding. Up goes the price of American beauties.

Col. R. L. Hedges, former proprietor of the Browns, was among those present at the world's series games in Cleveland. Looks like first division.

Speaker Real Hero of World's Series, Analysis of Play Shows

Championship Games Saw Cleveland Leader Give Wonderful Exhibition of Defensive Play and Help Clinch Several Victories at Bat—Lost 13 Pounds During Title Struggles.

By John E. Wray.

The world's series tumult having died down and the well-known captains and baseball kings having departed for their lairs, the official outdoor national game season is now over with the diploclous and Billy Bryanism.

Post-conflict discussion of the two clubs that have just completed a notable series still lingers, however, with such questions as "Did the best team win?" or "What allied Brooklyn's hurlers?" heading the debated features. All departing trains from Cleveland yesterday echoed with varying opinions.

The consensus apparently was that the best team lapped right side up when Cleveland ended the issue with four consecutive victories on its home grounds. As to what happened to the Dodger hurlers there was a general agreement that the Brooklyn pitchers were outwitted, rather assailing the theory that the older organization was better backed up by pitching efficiency.

The series games as viewed in the retrospect showed the Indians much the stronger at bat, faster on the base lines and, save for Sewell at shortstop, much tighter on defense. Coveleskie unquestionably the best and most effective pitcher of either team, with Mails next. Sherrod Smith and Grimes appeared to be Brooklyn's only ace, and they checked many a Brooklyn rally, but the rookie, outdid his veteran southpaw rival in their Cleveland rivalry.

Give It to Tris Speaker.

Both clubs displayed some really excellent outfield work, but we commend to public attention the performance of Manager Tristan Speaker. In this department, Speaker gave a world's championship exposition of the art of center-fielding, making hard ones look easy and pulling down the near-impossible catches by marvelous catches.

Speaker deserves more credit than any other one person connected with the series with the possible exception of Stanley Coveleskie. Not only did his fielding save many a hit and check many a Brooklyn rally, but his timely punches figured directly in the winning of nearly every victory.

In addition to his playing efficiency, was the inspiration and encouragement he lent his men. Unquestionably this was a big factor in keeping up the morale of the team, broken as it had been by the death of Chapman.

Speaker lost 13 pounds during the series, but he never lost hope. When the Indians came back from Brooklyn, prior to the first Cleveland clash, he expressed the view that his team would win every home game.

Sewell Erratic but Will Make Good.

Cleveland's weak spot was at shortstop, where Sewell's anxiety resulted in several alarming manual blunders, during the various struggles. It is only fair to say of this young man that his head never once went down, when he erred, and he generally came right back with a staunch fielding defense to make up for his misplays. Twice in one game he did this and just to show that he had not lost confidence in himself, following one error, he trotted up.

A $200,000 offer for Sisker and the rumor that it would be accepted.

The possible transfer of Jimmy Burke from St. Louis to Detroit.

And the strategy strategy reported by Eastern scribbles that Wilbert Robinson would replace Miller Huggins as manager of the Yankees.

"GOLD STAR" MOTHER DONATES TO DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The following letter was received yesterday from a "Gold Star" mother by George White, chairman of the Democratic National Committee:

"Please accept the enclosed small contribution to the fund for the dissemination of truth about the League of Nations. It is literally a widow's mite, but it comes from a mother who sent four greatly-needed sons to the world war. Two of these sons, with almost unlimited possibilities for future usefulness, were killed; a third was ill in hospital in France for five months, due to gas-ing in action, is still classified as unfit, and a fourth risked his precious young life in the air.

"When a honest, and concerted effort is being made by the nations of the earth to save, if possible, future mothers and sons from these sacrifices, it is hard to realize there are those who oppose such an effort. I feel sure that among those who paid for the war there can be one opinion, and that is to try the League of Nations, even if it is not perfect. It is the best that has been proposed, and all objections being weighed is manifestly the most feasible. Please God it will not fail.

"Yours very truly,
"MRS. EDWARD CRAWFORD DAVIDSON, Elizabeth, N. J."

CUBA APPEALS TO U. S. FOR FINANCIAL AID

Request Being Considered by Government Officials at Washington.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Cuba has appealed to the American Government for aid in its present financial difficulties. The appeal has been taken under consideration by officials to see if some plan of assistance can be worked out.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, Oct. 14.—Measures for coping with the financial situation in Cuba are being studied by Government officials and business men of the republic, but no definite solution has yet been found. Representatives of the international, national and Spanish banks conferred with President Menocal and the Secretary of Agriculture yesterday relative to the problems involved at the present time. They proposed, it is reported, that banks be allowed to issue sugar certificates which would be exchangeable at banks after the sugar had been deposited with the Government, and that the Government guaranteed approved checks will be paid by funds held in banking houses.

A secret meeting of sugar growers and commission men, holders of the unsold portion of the last Cuban sugar crop, was held last night for the purpose of discussing the financial crisis. At its close a statement was issued to newspapers, stating a vote of confidence had been given President Menocal in his efforts to negotiate a sale of held-over sugar and the coming crop.

The Secretary of Agriculture yesterday handed President Menocal a communication from the Merchants' Association recommending appointment of an economic commission composed of representatives of the Government, banks and commercial interests, to study the financial situation. It would seek a means of overcoming the difficulty arising from operation of the moratorium, arrange a medium of circulation in substitution of the money which the moratorium has tied up in the banks and advise as to the wisdom of calling an extra session of Congress for the adoption of necessary legislative measures.

MEN FOUND WITH GOAT UNDER OVERTURNED AUTO RELEASED

Four Hucksters Said They Got Drunk in East St. Louis and Bought Animal on Way Home.

Four men, who were found with a goat under an overturned Ford automobile at Nineteenth and Howard streets at 1 p. m. Tuesday, were discharged by Judge Mix when they were arraigned in Police Court today on charges of having been drunk on the street.

Associate City Counselor Oesing, who handled the case, asked policemen as to the whereabouts of the goat, which had caused considerable excitement at the City Hospital Tuesday, and was told that it was being held at the Fifth District station.

"Well, Judge," he said, "the police have got the goat; you have the goat of these men, and I believe they've got enough," to which Judge Mix responded that they "all were goats," and discharged them.

The men were William Jaggi, 2227 Brooklyn street; John Hynes, 2401 Elliot avenue, and James Egli, 1441 Clear street, all hucksters. They told policemen they had taken a day off and gone to East St. Louis, where they got some whisky, and bought the goat on the way home.

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

LESS than a year, Wallie Ascher was working with Hahn. No one knew his official title. But "Ask Wallie. He'll know," had been a sort of slogan in the office. He did know. His knowledge of the theater was infallible. He does not include plays unproduced; in this sense (infallible) and his feeling for it amount to a sixth sense.

Wallie was about 23 or 24. Sid Hahn took him on one of his annual scouting trips. It was in the spring, Hahn swooped down upon Paris, Vienna, Berlin, seeking that of the stage which might be translated, fumigated or otherwise rendered suitable for home. He sent Wallie on to Vienna, alone, on the pretext of a musical comedy rumored to be a second widow in tuncfulness, chic and charm. It wasn't. Merry Widows rarely were. Wallie wired Hahn as arranged. The telephone is unimportant, perhaps, but characteristic.

Mr. Sid Hahn, Hotel Savoy, London, England: A second, all right, but not a second Merry Widow. Heard of a winner in Budapest. Shall I send today from 11 to 5 running around the Ringstrasse looking for mythical creature as the chic Viennese. After careful investigation wish to be quoted as saying the species is extinct. WALLIE.

Remember, was in the year 1913. B. W. obeying instructions, went to Budapest, found the alleged winner, found it as advertised. Hahn took that effect, and was joined that gentleman three days later.

Budapest, at that time, was still Little Paris, wickered. A city of magnificent buildings, unadorned, and beautiful, dangerous.

What's the Matter With Work?
By Sophie Irene Loeb

BUSINESS man complained bitterly about what he termed "the conditions of the hour." He said the situation is getting impossible. I have never seen such a hard work. Workers seem to have lost all sense of responsibility and their relations to responsibility.

They don't seem to care. Their responsibility seems important to them. They seem to be working for wages rather than giving full value. They take the same pride in their work as they did.

It is an intolerable state of affairs, he continued. "But there will be a awakening," he prophesied. Workers who assume that attitude will fall by the wayside.

At present any kind of work is in demand, and has been for some time past. They have grown independent—too independent for their own good. But the day is not distant when the old prophecy will be fulfilled. He who has a faithful over a few things will be made ruler over many.

The employer is going to choose the best people—those who are faithful in their work and will shoulder responsibility. He who has a faithful over a few things will be made ruler over many.

If you don't believe it, go into any industry and see how they are cutting down and doing as few workers as possible. The aim of elimination is on, and the new worker, the one who is careful, will make his own way on doomsday.

This is true from the ground up. Every kind of work, he concluded, is being met by cutting him as fast as possible.

This business man urged me to do something about it in order to encourage the worker to work and warning to him who is a great deal to be said about this subject. This business man struck a dominant chord. Somewhere our prosperity has sent a wave of irresponsibility that is into every corner and crevice of industry.

Who is going to suffer from this? He said and does? The worker himself.

My sympathies are all with him who has to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. He is modest ways. And in many cases in the past the worker has been paid in accordance with his work. Today, as a general proposition, the worker is being paid less.

But this does not say that he is the only one who is being paid less. As a wise soul said, "He who only does what he is paid for never gets paid for more than he does."

But the prime importance of work and workmanship. The worker who is willing to shoulder responsibility and looks ahead to the end of his work is rarely overpaid.

It is the day when any one who hides his light under a bushel will be taken out of the fire. Workers who shift from one employer to another because of a little pay and do not look ahead, are really traveling the line of least resistance and rarely find themselves in the line where the big work is.

This business man whom I quote as one of hundreds who have an opinion about the prevalent condition of only doing so much for so little.

As soon as people work for money and have no love of the work itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself.

As soon as people work for money and have no love of the work itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself.

As soon as people work for money and have no love of the work itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself.

As soon as people work for money and have no love of the work itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself.

As soon as people work for money and have no love of the work itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself.

As soon as people work for money and have no love of the work itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself, they are doing the thing itself.

women, and frumpy men (civilian) and dashing officers in red pants, and Cigany music, and cafes and paprika and two-horse droschky. Buda, low and flat, lay on one side; Pest, high and hilly, perched picturesquely on the other. Between the two rolled the Blue Danube (which is yellow). It was here that Hahn and Wallie found Mizzi Markis. Mizzi Markis, then a girl of 19, was a hothouse.

Wallie had three days in Budapest before Hahn met him there. As the manager stepped from the train, looking geometrically square in a long ulster that touched his ears and his heels, Wallie met him with a bound.

"Hello, S. H. Great to see you! Say, listen, I've found something. I've found something big!" Hahn had never seen the boy so excited. "Oh, shucks! No play's as good as that."

"Play? It isn't a play." "Why, you young idiot, you said it was good! You said it was darned good! You don't mean to tell me—"

"Oh, that! That's all right. It's good—or will be when you get through with it." "What you talking about, then? Here, let's take one of these things with two horses. Gee! you ought to smoke a fat, black seegar and wear a silk hat when you ride in one of these! I feel like a parade." He was like a boy on a holiday, as always when in Europe.

"But let me tell you about this girl, won't you?" "Oh, it's a girl! What's her name. What's she do?"

"Her name's Mizzi." "Mizzi what?" "I don't know. She's a hothouse. She—" "That's all right, Wallie. I'm here now. An ice bag on your head and real quiet for two-three days. You'll come round fine." But Wallie was almost sulking. "Wait till you see her, S. H. She sings."

"Beautiful, is she?" "No, not particularly. No." "Wonderful voice, h'm?" "N-n-no. I wouldn't say it was what you'd call exactly wonderful."

Wallie had stood up in the droschky and waved his shot arms in windmill circles. "Well, what the devil does she do, then, that's so good? Carry bricks?"

"She is good at that. When she balances that pail of mortar on her head and walks off with it, her arms hanging straight at her sides!"

But Sid Hahn's patience was at an end. "You're a humorist, you are. If I didn't know you I'd say you were drunk. I'll bet you are, anyway. You've been eating paprika, raw. You make me sick."

Inlegant, but expressive of his feelings. But Wallie only said: "You wait. You'll see."

Frocks for the School Girl Particularly Lovely

Many Plaited Effects Are Being Shown in the Winter Dresses and Every Hue Is Represented.

BY LOUISE M. KELLARS.

FOR the girl in her teens Dame Fashion has devised exceedingly attractive frocks for the new season. As a whole, the dresses and costumes seem exactly suited to the figure types of the younger generation, being straight of line, graceful in their freedom from superfluous width and colorful as the first autumn leaf, commingling the waning green of summer with the richer nuances of yellow and red, indicative of the passing of one season and the approach of another.

The practical frocks have received first consideration—those that will be worn before the donning of the fur-trimmed suit or the topping of the frock with the fur jacket. Dark blue is the favorite color, and the slip-over models, innocent of buttons or other fastening devices, the style most insistently of the season.

Tricotine is the fabric in general evidence wherever the new things are displayed, varied by models of duvetyne, penchbloom and velvet.

Youth years for color, and knowing that the powers that regulate such matters have seen to it that there shall be no lack of lively hues interspersed among the navy blues and the browns. And by way of establishing neutral ground there are one-piece dresses in tans and in grays, the latter, however, rather inclined to be dressy and realizing their greatest degree of beauty in soft duvetyne and in satins.

By way of illustrating the new scheme of trimming, mention must be made of a model of dark blue peach-bloom cloth, whose demure background is startlingly contradicted by broad bands of blue, brown, yellow and red, each about two inches wide and consisting of chain stitchings in heavy floss so closely joined as to give the effect of wide braid. At the sides the ends are raveled out to stimulate fringes, which, in conjunction with the garish colors, suggests inspiration from the habiliments of the original American.

The sleeves revert to the raglan type, and the neck continues the slashed opening of the front (supplied with a make-believe waistcoat of blue satin), and forms a high, turnover collar of the cloth. There is the faintest line of red leather about the dropped waistline which, upon examination, proves to be an exceedingly narrow belt studded all over with small buttons of smoked pearl. There is something so joyous in the frank exposition of color, counterbalanced by the dull blue of the fabric, that one feels, instinctively, that the miss of 16 and thereabout will claim such a frock for her very own.

Somewhat more restrained in the color culturst is a dress of brown duvetyne, the skirt done in tracteries doing a thing well, that minute we have lost something that is worth while in the human game.

This is some theme for reflection. Giving satisfaction in work is being satisfied with what one does. It is the final summing up of dollars and cents.

Think it over.

STEWED CELERY

TO BLANCH celery in cooking. Temper all the leaves from the stalks. Scrape off all dark spots, cut into pieces about three inches long, and put in cold water. Have a steapan of boiling water on the fire, wash and drain the celery, and put in the boiling water. Boil rapidly for 15 minutes with cover partly off pan. Pour off the water and rinse with cold water, then drain. Put the celery in the steapan with one tablespoonful of butter and one teaspoonful salt for each quart of celery. Cover and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Shake pan frequently while celery is cooking. Serve very hot.

Maxims of a Modern Maid

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

IT wasn't Hope that they let out of Pandora's box, as a mitigation of all the other evils—but Di-vorce.

The traditional discomfort of the cynical bachelor in the presence of white-suited innocence is as nothing to the embarrassment of the Modern Young Woman when she meets a masculine crusader for the single standard of morality.

Why is it that the man with the prettiest and nicest wife is always the one who likes to flirt with every one in his office?

Of course, Marie, a woman should ALWAYS thank the man who gives her his seat in the subway—but there's such a thing as being struck dumb by surprise.

Marriage may be heaven or hell, but most often it is an emotional purgatory, from which fervent prayers win no deliverance.

Definition of a gentleman: A person who not only takes off his hat in the elevator when ladies are present, but who takes his cigar out of his mouth.

The real test of conjugal affection, these days, is whether she sends you with a smile into her clean kitchen to fracture the Eighteenth Amendment.

The Bloused - Peplum Is Among the Many Suit Models Being Shown for the Young Girl.

something of this sort last season, and it has proved decidedly workable while as a medium for emphasizing youthful lines; therefore, its repetition in the new models.

Many plaited effects are noted, ranging all the way from the accordion variety to the two-inch depth or more. There are rayon tunics and panels, and among the smartest are little redingote ideas very similar to those designed for women who can no longer claim even a remote figure relationship to sweet sixteen. In fact, this may be said of many of the dress fashions designed especially for the miss, or perhaps it is the other way round, and the fashions for the elders are really based on those intended primarily for the juniors.

Little dancing frocks are pretty creations of satin, chiffon, metallic gauzes, embroidered nets, and beaded tulle, lovely in their rainbow colorings and exquisite in their details of broad sashes, lace flounces, and general air of girlish fluffiness. There is no one color preference, the vivid tones contrasting with the pastel, white and black, each have a worth-while place among the offerings. While the Spanish effects are not so greatly emphasized as last season, there are, nevertheless, certain picturesque dresses of the dance persuasion, made with slightly distended hoop and fitted bodice, that are bound to make an appeal to the romantically inclined, provided the figure lines are slim, almost to a point of attenuation.

Separate coats are rather wide through the hem, and declare their loyalty to the belted expressions of the past two or three seasons. The materials are of comfortable weight, without, however, any sense of bulkiness. The colors duplicate those of the little trotteur, with the exception of blues, of which there is less employment in coat construction. Collars are high, of the muffer type, and very often are of fur.

There are many suit models for the young girl, among them the box, the bloused-peplum, the semi-fitted, the tailored effects, the redingote, the costume type, incorporating features of the most successful models of the last season or two. This means that the little Eton has not been neglected, although in its present phase it is associated with the bloused jacket which once upon a time we denominated "Russian," but which in its later editions is called by any whimsical name suggested by the fancy of the designers.

Burger's Bedtime Stories

Buster Bear's Bad Dream.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Pray have a care how much you eat, Especially of food that's sweet.

—Buster Bear.

BUSTER BEAR is the last one in the world to give advice of that kind, for he never has been known to be in the least careful of his own eating. But you will find frequently that people who give the very best advice never practice what they preach. Now that advice of Buster's is good, very good, indeed. It couldn't be better. Had Buster heeded it in the past he would have been a picture of health and happiness. But Buster Bear is largely ruled by his stomach. He wouldn't admit that, but it is true. The greater part of his time is spent in looking for good things to put in his stomach. The funny thing is that, though he thinks so much of his stomach, he abuses it shamefully. When he finds food that he is especially fond of he stuffs that poor stomach until it is stretched to several times its natural size and cannot be stretched another bit.

He had done just this with the honey from the bee tree he had pulled over and broken open. Then, because moving about with such a swollen stomach was uncomfortable and also it made him sleepy, he had crept into a thicket near by, and in no time at all was sound asleep.

Did you ever wonder where dreams come from? Let me tell you. More often than not they come from the stomach. Yes, sir, that is a fact. If you doubt it, just eat too much rich food and then go to sleep. You'll soon find out where dreams come from, had dreams, anyway.

Buster Bear had not been asleep long before he began to dream. Of course, he didn't know he was dreaming. One never does know one is dreaming. It was all real to Buster. At first it was very pleasant. He was sitting with his back to a big tree with just in front of him, where he could reach out and help himself, a great pile of honey-comb, filled with the sweetest, most delicious honey that ever he had tasted.

Although he ate and ate as fast as he could, that pile grew no smaller. Instead it grew larger. You see, all the bees in the Green Forest were making honey right there for Buster. They made it faster than he could eat it, and they seemed very glad to have him eat it.

Suddenly that dream changed. The great pile of honey vanished and in its place stood Farmer Brown's boy. He was very, very small and very much frightened. Buster growled his deepest, most rumbling growl, and Farmer Brown's boy turned and ran. Buster chased him. In and out among the trees, round and round, raced Farmer Brown's boy, with Buster at his heels. It was great fun. That was a very pleasant dream.

Finally, Farmer Brown's boy dived head first into a hollow log, just as Peter Rabbit might have done. Buster Bear was just reaching in to pull him out, when in the wink of an eye everything was changed. Buster Bear felt himself growing smaller and smaller, until he was no bigger than Striped Chipmunk. At the same time he saw Farmer Brown's boy grow bigger and bigger, until he was as tall as the tallest tree.

Then it was he, Buster Bear, who ran and this terrible giant who chased. Buster got out of breath. He was so tired that it didn't seem as if he could take another step. Still he kept on. Then a terrible humming sound filled all the Green Forest. Buster looked back. Farmer Brown's boy had been joined by a swarm of Great Bees, each as big as Blakely the Crow, all bent on catching him.

It was a bad dream, a terrible dream, one of the worst dreams he ever had had. Buster's stomach was aching even with him for the way he had abused it.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

TOO ALLURING TO BE TRUE.

I need a suit; I need another Kelly,
And therefore it is good to call to mind
These well-remembered words of Mr. Shelley:
"If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?"
For when dissolved and gone the snow and ice is,
When in the trees the robins sing once more,
The clothing men avert that present prices
Will flop to where they were before the war.

A man like me, who's no financial wizard,
Nor yet a coupon-clipping money king,
Can buy a coat to keep away the blizzard
For, maybe, twenty dollars—in the Spring.
Already I've a fondly pleasing vision
Of strutting in a suit of clothes again
That doesn't rouse the passerby's derision—
For I can buy a snappy model—then.

And for the first time in my recent annals
I'll scrap my thin and shredded B. V. D.'s,
And wrap my room in zephyr-proof red flannels—
About the time the green is on the grass.
I'll wear a hat that isn't worn and battered,
A nice new hat, of lovely brown or gray,
And by admiring glances I'll be flattered—
I think I'll get it Decoration day.

The dawn of Hope is always most alluring,
And in a somewhat brutal Northern clime
A person finds it rather reassuring
To know that Spring is due on schedule time.
But as I badly need that suit and Kelly,
And often have been much misled by Hope,
I cannot help but fear that Mr. Shelley
Is possibly mistaken in his dope!

He Had a Reason.

"Gentlemen of the jury," the eminent counsel wound up his eloquent oration. "I leave the rest to you.
You come of a chivalrous race. As men you would scorn to insult a woman—or ill-treat one—to say naught which is unbecoming or unmannerly to one of the gentler sex."

He paused with an angry glance at the back of the court, where there was a sudden disturbance. Then he shrunk back as a stern-looking woman faced him.
"And only this morning," she said, loudly, "that man called me a meddlesome old cat!"

What Civics Is.

Mrs. Profitier was very proud of the stunts she were doing at the smart private school to which she had sent her daughter.

"My dear," she said to her friend,
"what's civics, if you please?"
"What's civics?" asked the friend.
"Civics? My dear, don't you know?"

One or the Other.

"My cousin, Dodd Durnitt, from fore he left home a parcel of fellows digging in the bluff, extricated a Rumpus Ridge, Ark.

"What in thunder will they do with a mummy?" surprisedly asked an acquaintance.

"Dodd says they hadn't done
nuth'n with it when he came away, but some folks were advising 'em to go into the op'ry business and show it around the fairs in a tent, and others thought they ort to elect it to the Legislature."—Kansas City Star.
